JFK Will Meet Macmillan

Informal Talk Scheduled In British Isles

JFK To Visit Prime Minister At Birch Grove

LONDON (UPI) — President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will meet in Britain later this month to discuss major problems facing the Western Alliance.

The announcement, issued simultaneously here and in the United States, said Kennedy will arrive from Ireland on June 29 and leave the following day.

The two men will talk at the Prime Minister's country home at Birch Grove in the County of Essex.

Macmillan and Kennedy have met six times, but have not talked in the last six months. The announcement said that the two men "felt it would be useful to take advantage of the President's visit to Europe to have informal talks together."

Macmillan has been reported anxious to meet with Kennedy if for nothing else than to help his own image at home.

His Conservative Party has been shaken by a series of setbacks, the most recent being the resignation of War Minister John Profumo because of involvement with a red-haired playgirl.

Sometime between now and the fall of 1964 Macmillan must call new national elections and the opposition Labor Party has been pressing an all-out attack in anticipation.

Kennedy and Macmillan are expected to review plans for a North Atlantic Treaty Organization nuclear force of converted merchant ships carrying Polaris missiles and manned by mixed Allied crews.

Reds Denying Agreement On 'Hot Line' Plan

GENEVA (UPI) —The Russians said Friday that final agreement still is lacking on the establishment of a "hot line" communications link between Washington and Moscow to prevent accidental nuclear war.

Soviet disarmament negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin told newsmen "not everything is settled" for the teletype line that would give President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev direct contact in times of major crisis.

Tsarapkin was commenting on reports Thursday that a draft agreement on the "hot line" had been reached by American and Soviet technical experts and had been submitted to Kennedy and Khrushchev for approval.

The reports said Kennedy has accepted the plan, and the agreement would be signed as soon as Khrushchev signifies his approval.

The Soviet premier's final approval was not received Friday despite high hopes at the 17-nation disarmament conference for quick action.

The "hot line" — "hot" in the sense that it always will be open — will enable Kennedy and Khrushchev to confere directly and instantly to reduce the risk of nuclear war breaking out because of misunderstanding.

Marine Whirlybirds Are Being Deployed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said Friday night a number of Marine helicopters are moving from New River, N.C., to Dobbins Air Force Base, near Marietta, Ga.—leading to speculation that they are being deployed to positions for airlifting Army troops in the Alabama integration crisis.

Marine sources said the aircraft are UH34 helicopters. That type can carry up to 18 passengers.

Letters Reveal Philosophy Of Late Pontiff

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Fresh aspects of the philosophy and final illness of Pope John XXIII emerged Friday as newcomers swelled the ranks of cardinals setting up machinery for the election of his successor.

As the Church opened nine days of official mourning, publication of a letter Pope John wrote to his brother, Zaverio Roncalli, Dec. 3, 1961, and an interview with his personal physician contributed to the picture of a man left humble and unchanged by great power.

The Vatican paper L'Osservatore Romano printed the letter, which it called "a spiritual testament."

Typing it himself, the Pope warned his family against being seduced by fame. He urged his relatives—simple farmers in north Italy—to maintain their humility. A Pope has a duty, he said, "not to enrich his relatives, but only to assist them in charity according to their needs and conditions."

"The world only interests itself in making money," he said.

It was a warm letter in which the Pope included a remark that he was disturbed by "some small ailment."

A stomach tumor, anemia and peritonitis contributed to the death of the Pope last Monday.

The Vatican said almost all the 82 princes of the Roman Catholic Church will be in Rome by Monday. Three cardinals from the United States took part for the first time Friday in one of the business meetings preparatory to the conclave to select a Pope opening June 19.

Joining 35 others in deliberations here were James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles, Joseph Elmer Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis and Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer of Chicago.

Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston were among those due later.

Lines of mourners moved past the simple marble tomb of John XXIII in the dimly lit grotto of St. Peter's. Some paused to pray.

Three Youths Rescued From French Cave

AUBENAS, France (AP)—Three youths Friday struggled from a cave where they had been trapped by rising water for five days. They told of eating a leather belt, and of seeing two companions swept to their deaths in the underground torrent.

Since Wednesday, they had clung to a narrow ledge, only 15 yards from the cave mouth and safety. But the water from heavy rains flooded the cave entrance and blocked their exit.

The party of five entered the cavern Sunday to explore the course of an underground river.

Emile Cheilletz, 24, said from his hospital bed that they camped on an underground island Sunday but early Monday noticed the water rising. They broke camp and headed for the entrance.

Cheilletz said they tramped through the river, snaked along the ledges over the water, and in some places had to swim.

They dragged one tired comrade behind on a rope but he let go and was swept away by the current, he said.

A second companion slipped while trying to climb a water-drenched rope ladder. The youth's body was found later.

Rescuers had organized volunteers and police. Six requisitioned bulldozers worked furiously to build a dam in front of the cave.

Wednesday night the three youths huddled on a narrow ledge and ate from five of the 10 cans of provisions thrown into the torrent by the rescuers outside.

They let the other five cans pass on in hopes their comrades had saved themselves and would see them, Cheilletz said.

With a hastily built dam holding back much of the water early Friday, the youths struck out for the surface at the same time a rescue team started into the cavern.

They met so close to the entrance that rescuers on the surface heard the youths' cries of joy.

TORONTO (UPI) — Antonio Maurantonio looked like a young "Ben Casey." He was 25, good looking, an eligible bachelor and sported bright new "D" license plates on his car.

He had the nurses at St. Michael's Hospital watching for his arrival and the doorman knew him well.

There was only one problem—he hadn't treated a single patient in the month he was at the hospital.

Police disclosed Friday they have ended Maurantonio's medical career and charged him with impersonating a doctor.

Soviet Rockets Are Trained On Mediterranean

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev declared in an interview published Friday that the Soviet Union is keeping nuclear rockets trained on Mediterranean nations which harbor U.S. nuclear submarines.

The Tass news agency released the interview published by the Italian newspapers Paese Sera and Lora.

The Soviet Union recently proposed declaring the Mediterranean a nuclear-free zone. The United States replied that this was an effort by the Russians to reduce Western strength with no comparitive reduction of Soviet strength.

Khrushchev noted that the United States formerly had stationary nuclear rocket sites only in Italy and Turkey. He said now the United States plans to make "hostages" of all the Mediterranean countries.

"The Soviet Union has no other choice but to keep its nuclear rocket weapons aimed at the routes of the movement of NATO submarines and also at the coasts of the NATO member countries and equally the countries which grant their territories to this bloc for permanent or periodical basing of nuclear rocket weapons," he said.

Peace Seems Near In Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — The government said Friday it had shattered violent resistance to land reform and female suffrage.

Religious opponents, meanwhile, passed out leaflets calling for a "holy war" against Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi's regime.

The leaflets appeared in the streets shortly after the army began withdrawing some of the heavy troop reinforcements concentrated at key points in the capital through three days of rioting.

Signed Moslem religious leader Ayatollah Mohammed Behbehani, they declared the government "illegal because it doesn't serve the interests of God and therefore the faithful have got the right and duty to oppose it."

But the government appeared confident that the worst was over.

Twelve Workmen Suffer Exposure To Radiation

NEVADA TEST SITE (UPI)—Twelve workers received "varying levels of radiation dosage" Thursday when gases escaped into a tunnel here where a nuclear shot was touched off the previous day, the Atomic Energy Commission said Friday.

The AEC said "preliminary examination indicated that the workers inhaled radioactive iodine in varying quantities, some in amounts sufficient to cause radiation exposure to the thyroid considerably in excess of the standard set for industrial workers which is 30 rems per year."

Radiation recording instruments indicated, the AEC said, that none of the men received external total body doses approaching the established limits for workers in nuclear industry, however.

The AEC said the men were engaged in re-entry work in the tunnel complex when they received the dosage.

Orders New Cars

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway announced Friday it has placed orders totaling $13 million for 32 diesel locomotives and 400 special-purpose cars.

The C&O said it has placed a $6.4 million order with General Motors for the locomotives and $6.6 million with Pullman-Standard for the cars.

State Police Take Over At Alabama U.

Ku Klux Klan Rally Is Called At Tuscaloosa

By REX THOMAS

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Anxious authorities began sealing off the University of Alabama campus Friday in a security move for an impending integration showdown.

While Gov. George C. Wallace remained steadfast in his determination to resist the court-ordered enrollment of two Negroes, helmeted state troopers poured into the city.

Wallace has promised to stand defiantly in the doorway Tuesday even in the face of a federal court injunction which could send him to jail. But, again and again, he has vowed to prevent mob violence and has publicly appealed to Alabama people to stay away from the campus.

The governor served blunt notice that he means to test the validity of the no-interference injunction issued two days ago by U.S. Dist. Judge Seybourn H. Lynne in Birmingham.

Support Of Legislature

Wallace also accused two Negro students—Vivian J. Malone, 20, of Mobile, and James A. Hood, 20, of East Gadsden — of becoming pawns of the National Association for the advancement of Colored People and "those who would create chaos and are opposed to peace and tranquility."

The 43-year-old governor was given the prayers and good wishes of the legislature in a resolution which passed both houses. In an unusual gesture, the Senate stood one minute in silent prayer for Wallace.

Law enforcement officers, expected to number at 750 at full strength, kept a close watch on the movements of some militant segregationist forces.

KKK To Rally

A Ku Klux Klan rally has been called for Saturday night under a no-violence pledge from the grand wizard, Robert M. Shelton of Tuscaloosa.

Another prosegregation group, the Citizens Council, scheduled a meeting to hear a speech by one of Alabama's most vocal foes of integration, former Police Commissioner Eugene Connor.

Barricades were ordered up at midnight to put the sprawling university campus, off-limits to all but students, faculty members and other authorized personnel.

Highway signs leading into the city notified students arriving for the summer term that the main campus would be closed. They were sent to an auxiliary campus on the site of a former Army hospital for identification cards which will admit them to the university proper.

May Use Troops

Spokesmen for the Kennedy administration in Washington made it clear that federal troops will be used if necessary to get the two Negroes admitted to the university Tuesday.

Another crisis appears imminent when a third Negro, David M. McGlathery, 27, of Huntsville, seeks admittance to the University Center in Huntsville. Wallace has promised to show up there, too, next Thursday and bar the door.

More than 4,000 Alabama National Guardsmen will begin a two-week summer training Sunday, two days before the scheduled showdown at Tuscaloosa. While Army authorities said the mobilization had nothing to do with the university crisis, the Guardsmen will be on active duty if needed.

Zasu Pitts Dies

Actress Zasu Pitts, 63, who portrayed fluttery spinsters in movies and television for years, died of cancer yesterday in Hollywood. This is a 1962 picture from one of her films.

Comedienne Falls Victim To Cancer

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Zasu Pitts, a comedienne whose blinking eyes, fluttering hands and quavering voice brought her movie stardom, died of cancer Friday at the age of 63.

Miss Pitts succumbed at Good Samaritan Hospital. She had been suffering from the disease for a long time but entered the hospital only Thursday.

Her career dated back to silent pictures and included more than 500 films. She also starred for four years in the "Oh Suzannah" television series.

Miss Pitts and her husband, John E. Woodall, lived in a quiet Pasadena, Calif., neighborhood. They were married in Nevada in 1933.

Miss Pitts had been previously married to Thomas S. Gallery. They had two children, a daughter, Ann, and an adopted son, Don.

Origin Of Name

The friendly actress was born in Parsona, Kan., Jan. 3, 1900, acquiring her unusual first name because her father had two sisters who each wanted her name bestowed on the little girl. Mr. Pitts took the last syllable of Eliza and the first syllable of Susan for his baby. The family later moved to Santa Cruz, Calif.

For years, the actress was kidded about her name. Once she replied, "both Zasu and Pitts are my real names and frankly I don't see anything funny about either of them."

Most movie fans remember Miss Pitts as the star of whacky comedies that delighted a generation of Americas. She was, however, a serious actress in silent pictures, scoring an early success in "Greed" before the advent of talkies.

With the arrival of talkies, Miss Pitts continued as a serious actress. But her quavering voice gave producers the idea that she would be a good comedienne.

Recalled Career

In one of her last interviews with United Press International last year she recalled her emergence as a laughgetter instead of a heroine.

"Somehow I once changed my voice during a picture so that I sounded kind of hopeless," she said of her accidental comedy debut. "In every picture after that the directors asked me to sound

Heavy Storm Hits Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lightning and heavy rain spread a wide path of destruction through North Baltimore and Baltimore County Friday, downing trees and wires and flooding roads and cellars.

An 80-foot oak tree crashed down on a North Baltimore home, nearly shearing the house in two, and firemen were kept busy responding to numerous calls of lightning strikes. No injuries were reported.

Streams overflowed and storm drains were unable to cope with the flash rainstorm, causing many streets to have several inches of water in them.

Trees and limbs crashing down on power lines left many homes without electricity, but the telephone company reported only minor disruptions of service.

Dixie Solons Gird For Fight On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Southern senators are geared to filibuster against President Kennedy's civil rights program when it reaches the Senate floor — and for the first time in years they have real concern their efforts may fail.

A southern senator said Friday he could not conceive of "any civil rights bill the President will send to us" which the Dixie members would not have to oppose by filibuster. The administration's legislative package on civil rights is expected next week.

There were mounting indications that the administration chances of mustering the required two-thirds vote to kill a filibuster were improving. Informed sources on both sides of the issue agree it will depend upon:

—The amount of personal leadership President Kennedy throws into the effort. This includes how much consultation he tenders the GOP leadership, as well as how much pressure he applies on Democratic senators.

—The scope of the President's legislative proposals. Republicans already have warned that if he intends to apply a broad rather than limited use of the interstate commerce clause to open public accommodations to Negroes his GOP support will dwindle. Some other Republicans, and all southerners, also find unpalatable the proposed "title three" power to let the attorney general file civil suits on behalf of Negro individuals in school desegregation cases.

Navy Stages Spectacular Missile Show

President Flies To Hawaii Today To Meet Mayors

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP)—President Kennedy, on a whirlwind day that mixed foreign, military and political affairs, announced Friday that he is meeting Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain June 29.

Word of the top-level conference came from the mobile White House just before Kennedy took off from the carrier Kitty Hawk to watch a desert demonstration of some of the Navy's most spectacular weapons, then moved on to a political date in Los Angeles.

Kennedy flies to Hawaii Saturday to talk to the nation's mayors Sunday about the troublesome civil rights issue.

Sees Maneuvers

Kennedy was breakfasting aboard the 80,000-ton Kitty Hawk, where he spent the night after watching fleet and aerial maneuvers, when White House press secretary Pierre Salinger confirmed that a conference with Macmillan is being worked into the chief executive's trip to Europe at the end of the month. The President also will visit Germany, Ireland and Italy.

From the flight deck of the Kitty Hawk, seven miles at sea, a helicoper whisked Kennedy to Point Mugu, headquarters of the Pacific missile range.

His jet airliner took him on to China Lake for the last of a series of military power demonstrations that have featured his Western tour.

The President summed up his reaction to what the military has been showing him in the West in a talk to a big crowd a the Point Mugu airport. Looking ahead to his return to the national capital Monday, he said:

"I go back to Washington with a feeling of renewed pride in being an American, a renewed confidence in being a citizen of the greatest republic on the face of the earth."

He said the United States doesn't consist of ambassadors, Cabinet members and the President, however important they may be.

"It consists," he said, "of 180 million people living in a rich, productive country and guarded by the finest Army, Navy and Air Force in the world. We don't come here to see the military forces but to restore our confidence."

Rushed By Crowd

The gates at Point Mugu were swung open to the public and more than 20,000 poured through to join thousands of personnel and families already there.

It was a noisy roaring reception Kennedy got and enjoyed. He went on a hand shaking expedition and was mobbed by a swirling crowd of kids that squeezed under and over barriers and eluded Secret Service men and chased him almost to the door of his plane.

Man Killed In Race Riot

LEXINGTON, N. C. (UPI) — Mayor C. V. Sink declared a state of emergency Friday and state troopers moved in to help local police stave off a new outbreak of racial rioting in this tense and stunned industrial city.

One man was killed and a newspaper photographer was wounded Thursday night by gunfire when an angry, taunting crowd of 500 whites battled about 50 Negroes with rocks, bottles and bricks.

Rifle fire felled the two, both white, while firecrackers popped. At least one shotgun blast was fired.

Seven Negroes and two whites were jailed Friday in connection with the riot, the first major violence in nearly a month in the turbulent civil rights battle raging across the South and other parts of the nation.

Sink made a public appeal for persons to stay off the city streets Friday night, avoid congregating in the downtown section and cancel meetings until tensions and tempers subside.

"We are doing everything in our power to keep it down," Assistant Police Chief Lester Sheets said.

Not since a Negro motel and homes were bombed in Birmingham, Ala. May 11, touching off bloody street fighting, had the tempers of whites and Negroes reached such a flashpoint in the South.

Firemen finally put down the explosive battle with a single fire hose.

One Worker Still Missing At B&O Tunnel Cave-In

PARKERSBURG, W.Va. (AP)—Workers Friday rescued a construction worker who was pinned under tons of rock which crashed down from the roof of a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tunnel.

Another victim of the fall was still missing and believed dead.

Several times, rescue workers carefully lifted away the rocks which held Arthur Boggs in a painful trap. Each time they prepared to pull him to safety, the huge pile of stone shifted, more rocks fell from the ceiling and Boggs was trapped again.

They finally worked him loose Friday afternoon. The extent of his injuries was not known immediately.

Harry Nichols of Bartlett, Ohio, one of the nine workmen in the tunnel when the fall occurred, was missing and presumed dead.

State Police Trooper R. T. Nicholson said rocks continued to dribble from the roof and posed a threat of another serious fall. Earlier in the day, two unidentified rescuers were slightly injured when they were almost caught in a fall.

Robert Airhart, 19, of Parkersburg, was caught in the first roof collapse Thursday night, but fellow workers who were out of the path of the falling rocks pulled him away with only minor injuries. He was checked at a hospital and released.

Nicholson said Airhart reported he and two other workmen heard the fall and ran in the opposite direction. All the others, except Nichols and Boggs, were away from the scene of the fall.

Boggs was found lying on his stomach beside a drainage ditch.

He said he was using a jack hammer when the crash came. It was not known immediately what Nichols was doing. Boggs lives at Glenville.

Both victims were employed by C. J. Langenfelder & Son, Inc., Baltimore.

Trooper Nicholson said the fall occurred about 700 feet into the 2,800-foot tunnel.

The work crew was "skylighting" the tunnel—raising the ceiling to permit passage of piggyback railroad cars. The tunnel is located about 20 miles southeast of Parkersburg, near the community of Walker.

"Skylighting," or "daylighting" involves, in effect, converting a tunnel into a cut through a hill. Whenever there is a relatively small amount of overburden—earth and rock—over the tunnel, it is considered less expensive to move the overburden than to attempt to enlarge the tunnel.

He said he had little feeling below his waist.

Ku Klux Klan Rally Is Called At Tuscaloosa

By REX THOMAS

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Anxious authorities began sealing off the University of Alabama campus Friday in a security move for an impending integration showdown.

While Gov. George C. Wallace remained steadfast in his determination to resist the court-ordered enrollment of two Negroes, helmeted state troopers poured into the city.

Wallace has promised to stand defiantly in the doorway Tuesday even in the face of a federal court injunction which could send him to jail. But, again and again, he has vowed to prevent mob violence and has publicly appealed to Alabama people to stay away from the campus.

The governor served blunt notice that he means to test the validity of the no-interference injunction issued two days ago by U.S. Dist. Judge Seybourn H. Lynne in Birmingham.

Support Of Legislature

Wallace also accused two Negro students—Vivian J. Malone, 20, of Mobile, and James A. Hood, 20, of East Gadsden — of becoming pawns of the National Association for the advancement of Colored People and "those who would create chaos and are opposed to peace and tranquility."

The 43-year-old governor was given the prayers and good wishes of the legislature in a resolution which passed both houses. In an unusual gesture, the Senate stood one minute in silent prayer for Wallace.

Law enforcement officers, expected to number at 750 at full strength, kept a close watch on the movements of some militant segregationist forces.

KKK To Rally

A Ku Klux Klan rally has been called for Saturday night under a no-violence pledge from the grand wizard, Robert M. Shelton of Tuscaloosa.

Another prosegregation group, the Citizens Council, scheduled a meeting to hear a speech by one of Alabama's most vocal foes of integration, former Police Commissioner Eugene Connor.

Barricades were ordered up at midnight to put the sprawling university campus, off-limits to all but students, faculty members and other authorized personnel.

Highway signs leading into the city notified students arriving for the summer term that the main campus would be closed. They were sent to an auxiliary campus on the site of a former Army hospital for identification cards which will admit them to the university proper.

May Use Troops

Spokesmen for the Kennedy administration in Washington made it clear that federal troops will be used if necessary to get the two Negroes admitted to the university Tuesday.

Another crisis appears imminent when a third Negro, David M. McGlathery, 27, of Huntsville, seeks admittance to the University Center in Huntsville. Wallace has promised to show up there, too, next Thursday and bar the door.

More than 4,000 Alabama National Guardsmen will begin a two-week summer training Sunday, two days before the scheduled showdown at Tuscaloosa. While Army authorities said the mobilization had nothing to do with the university crisis, the Guardsmen will be on active duty if needed.

Zasu Pitts Dies

Actress Zasu Pitts, 63, who portrayed fluttery spinsters in movies and television for years, died of cancer yesterday in Hollywood. This is a 1962 picture from one of her films.

Comedienne Falls Victim To Cancer

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Zasu Pitts, a comedienne whose blinking eyes, fluttering hands and quavering voice brought her movie stardom, died of cancer Friday at the age of 63.

Miss Pitts succumbed at Good Samaritan Hospital. She had been suffering from the disease for a long time but entered the hospital only Thursday.

Her career dated back to silent pictures and included more than 500 films. She also starred for four years in the "Oh Suzannah" television series.

Miss Pitts and her husband, John E. Woodall, lived in a quiet Pasadena, Calif., neighborhood. They were married in Nevada in 1933.

Miss Pitts had been previously married to Thomas S. Gallery. They had two children, a daughter, Ann, and an adopted son, Don.

Origin Of Name

The friendly actress was born in Parsona, Kan., Jan. 3, 1900, acquiring her unusual first name because her father had two sisters who each wanted her name bestowed on the little girl. Mr. Pitts took the last syllable of Eliza and the first syllable of Susan for his baby. The family later moved to Santa Cruz, Calif.

For years, the actress was kidded about her name. Once she replied, "both Zasu and Pitts are my real names and frankly I don't see anything funny about either of them."

Most movie fans remember Miss Pitts as the star of whacky comedies that delighted a generation of Americas. She was, however, a serious actress in silent pictures, scoring an early success in "Greed" before the advent of talkies.

With the arrival of talkies, Miss Pitts continued as a serious actress. But her quavering voice gave producers the idea that she would be a good comedienne.

Recalled Career

In one of her last interviews with United Press International last year she recalled her emergence as a laughgetter instead of a heroine.

"Somehow I once changed my voice during a picture so that I sounded kind of hopeless," she said of her accidental comedy debut. "In every picture after that the directors asked me to sound

Heavy Storm Hits Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lightning and heavy rain spread a wide path of destruction through North Baltimore and Baltimore County Friday, downing trees and wires and flooding roads and cellars.

An 80-foot oak tree crashed down on a North Baltimore home, nearly shearing the house in two, and firemen were kept busy responding to numerous calls of lightning strikes. No injuries were reported.

Streams overflowed and storm drains were unable to cope with the flash rainstorm, causing many streets to have several inches of water in them.

Trees and limbs crashing down on power lines left many homes without electricity, but the telephone company reported only minor disruptions of service.

Dixie Solons Gird For Fight On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Southern senators are geared to filibuster against President Kennedy's civil rights program when it reaches the Senate floor — and for the first time in years they have real concern their efforts may fail.

A southern senator said Friday he could not conceive of "any civil rights bill the President will send to us" which the Dixie members would not have to oppose by filibuster. The administration's legislative package on civil rights is expected next week.

There were mounting indications that the administration chances of mustering the required two-thirds vote to kill a filibuster were improving. Informed sources on both sides of the issue agree it will depend upon:

—The amount of personal leadership President Kennedy throws into the effort. This includes how much consultation he tenders the GOP leadership, as well as how much pressure he applies on Democratic senators.

—The scope of the President's legislative proposals. Republicans already have warned that if he intends to apply a broad rather than limited use of the interstate commerce clause to open public accommodations to Negroes his GOP support will dwindle. Some other Republicans, and all southerners, also find unpalatable the proposed "title three" power to let the attorney general file civil suits on behalf of Negro individuals in school desegregation cases.

Navy Stages Spectacular Missile Show

President Flies To Hawaii Today To Meet Mayors

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP)—President Kennedy, on a whirlwind day that mixed foreign, military and political affairs, announced Friday that he is meeting Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain June 29.

Word of the top-level conference came from the mobile White House just before Kennedy took off from the carrier Kitty Hawk to watch a desert demonstration of some of the Navy's most spectacular weapons, then moved on to a political date in Los Angeles.

Kennedy flies to Hawaii Saturday to talk to the nation's mayors Sunday about the troublesome civil rights issue.

Sees Maneuvers

Kennedy was breakfasting aboard the 80,000-ton Kitty Hawk, where he spent the night after watching fleet and aerial maneuvers, when White House press secretary Pierre Salinger confirmed that a conference with Macmillan is being worked into the chief executive's trip to Europe at the end of the month. The President also will visit Germany, Ireland and Italy.

From the flight deck of the Kitty Hawk, seven miles at sea, a helicoper whisked Kennedy to Point Mugu, headquarters of the Pacific missile range.

His jet airliner took him on to China Lake for the last of a series of military power demonstrations that have featured his Western tour.

The President summed up his reaction to what the military has been showing him in the West in a talk to a big crowd a the Point Mugu airport. Looking ahead to his return to the national capital Monday, he said:

"I go back to Washington with a feeling of renewed pride in being an American, a renewed confidence in being a citizen of the greatest republic on the face of the earth."

He said the United States doesn't consist of ambassadors, Cabinet members and the President, however important they may be.

"It consists," he said, "of 180 million people living in a rich, productive country and guarded by the finest Army, Navy and Air Force in the world. We don't come here to see the military forces but to restore our confidence."

Rushed By Crowd

The gates at Point Mugu were swung open to the public and more than 20,000 poured through to join thousands of personnel and families already there.

It was a noisy roaring reception Kennedy got and enjoyed. He went on a hand shaking expedition and was mobbed by a swirling crowd of kids that squeezed under and over barriers and eluded Secret Service men and chased him almost to the door of his plane.

Man Killed In Race Riot

LEXINGTON, N. C. (UPI) — Mayor C. V. Sink declared a state of emergency Friday and state troopers moved in to help local police stave off a new outbreak of racial rioting in this tense and stunned industrial city.

One man was killed and a newspaper photographer was wounded Thursday night by gunfire when an angry, taunting crowd of 500 whites battled about 50 Negroes with rocks, bottles and bricks.

Rifle fire felled the two, both white, while firecrackers popped. At least one shotgun blast was fired.

Seven Negroes and two whites were jailed Friday in connection with the riot, the first major violence in nearly a month in the turbulent civil rights battle raging across the South and other parts of the nation.

Sink made a public appeal for persons to stay off the city streets Friday night, avoid congregating in the downtown section and cancel meetings until tensions and tempers subside.

"We are doing everything in our power to keep it down," Assistant Police Chief Lester Sheets said.

Not since a Negro motel and homes were bombed in Birmingham, Ala. May 11, touching off bloody street fighting, had the tempers of whites and Negroes reached such a flashpoint in the South.

Firemen finally put down the explosive battle with a single fire hose.

One Worker Still Missing At B&O Tunnel Cave-In

PARKERSBURG, W.Va. (AP)—Workers Friday rescued a construction worker who was pinned under tons of rock which crashed down from the roof of a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tunnel.

Another victim of the fall was still missing and believed dead.

Several times, rescue workers carefully lifted away the rocks which held Arthur Boggs in a painful trap. Each time they prepared to pull him to safety, the huge pile of stone shifted, more rocks fell from the ceiling and Boggs was trapped again.

They finally worked him loose Friday afternoon. The extent of his injuries was not known immediately.

Harry Nichols of Bartlett, Ohio, one of the nine workmen in the tunnel when the fall occurred, was missing and presumed dead.

State Police Trooper R. T. Nicholson said rocks continued to dribble from the roof and posed a threat of another serious fall. Earlier in the day, two unidentified rescuers were slightly injured when they were almost caught in a fall.

Robert Airhart, 19, of Parkersburg, was caught in the first roof collapse Thursday night, but fellow workers who were out of the path of the falling rocks pulled him away with only minor injuries. He was checked at a hospital and released.

Nicholson said Airhart reported he and two other workmen heard the fall and ran in the opposite direction. All the others, except Nichols and Boggs, were away from the scene of the fall.

Boggs was found lying on his stomach beside a drainage ditch.

He said he was using a jack hammer when the crash came. It was not known immediately what Nichols was doing. Boggs lives at Glenville.

Both victims were employed by C. J. Langenfelder & Son, Inc., Baltimore.

Trooper Nicholson said the fall occurred about 700 feet into the 2,800-foot tunnel.

The work crew was "skylighting" the tunnel—raising the ceiling to permit passage of piggy-back railroad cars. The tunnel is located about 20 miles southeast of Parkersburg, near the community of Walker.

"Skylighting," or "daylighting" involves, in effect, converting a tunnel into a cut through a hill. Whenever there is a relatively small amount of overburden—earth and rock—over the tunnel, it is considered less expensive to move the overburden than to attempt to enlarge the tunnel.

He said he had little feeling below his waist.

Ambassador's Private Train Is Discontinued

Congress Probes Use In Germany

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A New York congressman has permanently derailed a private train which has been at the disposal of the U.S. ambassador to Germany.

Rep. John J .Rooney, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee which handles the State Department's money bill, discovered that the train regularly chugged off to dinner parties, to skiing slopes, on sightseeing junkets, and to take the ambassador to speaking engagements within easy driving distance.

Rooney suggested the taxpayers would be happier if the ambassador and Embassy officials made greater use of automobiles instead of the train since it cost $119,000 a year to operate it.

The pointed hint was made at closed-door hearings of Rooney's subcommittee in March. The testimony, made public Friday, showed that three days later an order went out from the State Department discontinuing the train.

The train has been used by several ambassadors, and originally belonged to U.S. military officials in Germany, according to the State Department. The present ambassador is George C. McGhee, who just a few weeks ago succeeded Walter C. Dowling.

Assistant Secretary of State William R. Tyler told the Rooney subcommittee that the train "symbolizes the U.S. commitment to Berlin." The train also was used by the ambassador to make business trips from Bonn across Communist East Germany to West Berlin.

Magistrate Court Clerks Charged In Embezzlement

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Two women formerly employed as clerks in the court of Magistrate Robert S. Heise have been charged by state police with embezzling court funds.

State's Atty. Marvin H. Anderson said Mrs. Frances Mitchell and Mrs. Alice Harmer were released in bail of $1,000 following their arrest Thursday night.

Mrs. Mitchell was charged with embezzling $421 and Mrs. Harmer with $278.

Heise reported several months ago that his office was apparently short $10,000 and requested an investigation by the state's attorney.

The women were arraigned before Heise Thursday night and released in bail. No date was set for a hearing.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A sports car collided with a dump truck in Southwest Baltimore Friday killing the driver of the car and his passenger.

Police identified the victims as Bernard Gray, 28, of Dundalk, Md. and Mrs. Rose Kessler, 22, of Baltimore.

Police said the accident occurred on Washington Boulevard just within the city limits.

The death of the pair raised Maryland's highway fatality toll to 244, 34 more than a year ago.

"I honestly don't think I'm funny," she said. Millions of moviegoers would disagree.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — A jury in Baltimore County Circuit Court has awarded $57,850 damages to six minor children of a Carroll County woman killed on Easter Sunday, 1960, when struck by a Western Maryland train.

The victim, Mrs. Francenia Becker, 42, of Taneytown, was riding in an automobile being driven by her husband, Oscar L. Becker, when the accident happened. The jury awarded no damages to the husband and specified all the money was to go to the children, whose ages ranged from 2 to 16 years at the time of the accident.

Judge John Grason Turnbull presided at the four-day trial.

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — Cecil County has formed a Young Republican Organization.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Kenneth W. Brooks of Baltimore, a 17-year-old painter, was charged Friday with the fatal shooting of a friend.

The victim, Robert A. Gardner, 15, was pronounced dead at Union Memorial Hospital. He was shot in the face with a .38 caliber revolver Thursday night at the home of a firearms collector.

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — The U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals turned down Friday a petition for a grand jury investigation of alleged anti-trust law violations by major oil companies in Maryland.

The petition, by A&H Transportation Inc., headed by Harry Waller, has been rejected previously by the U.S. District Court at Baltimore.

The appeals court said authority to summon grand juries is vested with the district court and that it found no abuse of this discretion on the part of the lower court.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Patients at Lutheran Hospital will move over an enclosed bridge and through a tunnel to the new $3.8 million Lutheran Hospital this weekend.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Anne Arundel County is going to check on fund-raising campaigns in its public schools this summer with the possibility of abolishing them.

Mrs. D. Ellwood Wlliams Jr., a member of the Board of Education, suggested a ban on fund raising in the schools.

"Teachers attend school to teach and students to learn," she said, and neither should be used as money collectors or salesmen.

Sugar Deliveries Up 17 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — American markets got 17 per cent more sugar in the first five months of this year than in the like period last year, says an Agriculture Department report.

Deliveries by refiners, beet sugar processors, importers and sugar cane processors in the Florida-Louisiana producing area totaled 4,181,000 tons to June 1 compared with 3,574,000 tons in the corresponding period last year.

Officials said Friday these delivery figures substantiate previous statements that there is no shortage of sugar in this country or cause for the earlier sharp price increases or for stockpiling in fear of shortages. Deliveries in May totaled 1,025,000 tons, by far the largest quantity sold in the market in any one month since last August.

Civil Rights Law Supported By Pressman

Declares State Petition Defective

BALTIMORE (AP)—Hyman A. Pressman, an attorney for civil rights groups and Baltimore's new comptroller, asked Secretary of State Lloyd L. Simpkins Friday to declare that the state's public accommodations law is in effect.

Simpkins began Friday screening petitions asking for a referendum on the law, passed by the General Assembly earlier this year. The measure was to have gone into effect June 1, banning racial discrimination in hotels, motels and restaurants in Baltimore City and 11 counties.

Segregationists filed a petition of 12,325 signatures on May 31 in an effort to have the measure placed on the ballot in November, 1964. The move prevented the law from taking effect.

In a telegram to Simpkins, Pressman, who examined the petitions this week, said "it is obvious that the petitions do not contain enough valid signatures to suspend the operation of the law."

"I therefore request an opportunity to show the deficiencies to you," Pressman said. "I also request that you publicly declare that the petiions are insufficien and that the law is no suspended."

Integrationists studying the petitions said they found more than 1,500 defective signatures. Pressman has said the signatures are not properly certified by the persons who obtained them.

Chimp Is Sought After Biting Girl

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — The State Health Department and State Police are seeking the owners of a trained chimpanzee which they say bit an 8-year-old Luzerne County girl.

The chimpanzee is part of an act which performed with a circus at nearby Idetown last Monday night. The performance was billed as Dante's Act. The present whereabouts of the act are not known here. But one report said it is en route to Florida.

Dr. Richard Potter, regional director for the Health Department, said the child, whose name was withheld, was bitten on several fingers.

He said that if the chimpanzee can be found the owners will be asked to quarantine it for 10 days to determine whether it has rabies.

Linc White To Leave Post With State Department

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Linc White, the State Department's own Voice of America, has a new job and his newspaper friends are sorry.

White's boss, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, announced Friday that the 57-year-old director of the department's Office of News has been appointed consul general in Melbourne, Australia.

Since 1955 Paul Lincoln White has been the State Department's chief official spokesman. He has been in the news division since 1943 and in the U.S. government since 1933.

He has, said Rusk, "endured the slings and arrows of outraged newsmen — with limitless good humor, urbanity and great service to his country."

His successor was not immediately named.

In a world in which no international situation is considered complete unless the United States has expressed its view, White has been asked daily to comment on Russia's latest missile threats, the escapades of travelling congressmen and the speeches of prime ministers in tiny and remote countries.

He has had an easy relationship, not only with newsmen whom he saw daily, but with secretaries of state. His job occasionally called for fast footwork with little guidance except his deep knowledge of U.S. policy and diplomatic intricacies.

Whie said Friday he plans to remain as chief of the news division until the end of this month. Then he will "get my nose into the books" to familizarize himself with consulate procedures before leaving early in September for Melbourne.

Bids To Be Opened On New NBS Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration announced Friday it will open bids July 9 for completion of construction of laboratory buildings and utility systems at the new site of the National Bureau of Standards near Gaithersburg, Md.

GSA said the work to be covered in the contracts has an estimated cost of $38.6 million. It is to be completed by late 1965.

The work will include site development, erection of superstructures for seven buildings, and installation of heating, plumbing, electrical and air-conditioning systems.

U.N. Observers To Help Keep Peace In Yemen

200-Man Team To Patrol Border

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Secretary-General U Thant gave the go-ahead Friday for dispatch of U.N. observers to Yemen to see that the United Arab Republic and Saudi Arabia abide by their agreement to end intervention in Yemen's civil war.

In a report to the U. N. Security Council, Thant said he was able to do so because the U.A.R. and Saudi Arabia had agreed to pay for the new peacekeeping operation.

The Soviet Union had indicated it might seek a meeting of the council to consider whether the United Nations should authorize such a project. The agreement worked out by Thant in consultation with the two Arab countries apparently forestalled any such Soviet move.

Yemen underwent a revolution last September in which rebels seized power under the leadership of Abdullah Sallal, now Yemen's president. He had the assistance of the United Arab Republic, which sent 28,000 troops into Yemen.

Saudi Arabia supported efforts of the ousted royalists under Iman Mohammed al-Badr to regain power.

Thant announced an observer team of about 200 will patrol a 25-mile zone on the Saudi Arabian-Yemen frontier to see that the disengagement is carried out.

200-Man Team To Patrol Border

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Secretary-General U Thant gave the go-ahead Friday for dispatch of U.N. observers to Yemen to see that the United Arab Republic and Saudi Arabia abide by their agreement to end intervention in Yemen's civil war.

In a report to the U. N. Security Council, Thant said he was able to do so because the U.A.R. and Saudi Arabia had agreed to pay for the new peacekeeping operation.

The Soviet Union had indicated it might seek a meeting of the council to consider whether the United Nations should authorize such a project. The agreement worked out by Thant in consultation with the two Arab countries apparently forestalled any such Soviet move.

Yemen underwent a revolution last September in which rebels seized power under the leadership of Abdullah Sallal, now Yemen's president. He had the assistance of the United Arab Republic, which sent 28,000 troops into Yemen.

Saudi Arabia supported efforts of the ousted royalists under Iman Mohammed al-Badr to regain power.

Thant announced an observer team of about 200 will patrol a 25-mile zone on the Saudi Arabian-Yemen frontier to see that the disengagement is carried out.

Bids To Be Opened On New NBS Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration announced Friday it will open bids July 9 for completion of construction of laboratory buildings and utility systems at the new site of the National Bureau of Standards near Gaithersburg, Md.

GSA said the work to be covered in the contracts has an estimated cost of $38.6 million. It is to be completed by late 1965.

The work will include site development, erection of superstructures for seven buildings, and installation of heating, plumbing, electrical and air-conditioning systems.

Magistrate Court Clerks Charged In Embezzlement

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Two women formerly employed as clerks in the court of Magistrate Robert S. Heise have been charged by state police with embezzling court funds.

State's Atty. Marvin H. Anderson said Mrs. Frances Mitchell and Mrs. Alice Harmer were released in bail of $1,000 following their arrest Thursday night.

Mrs. Mitchell was charged with embezzling $421 and Mrs. Harmer with $278.

Heise reported several months ago that his office was apparently short $10,000 and requested an investigation by the state's attorney.

The women were arraigned before Heise Thursday night and released in bail. No date was set for a hearing.

Miss Pitts appeared rarely on movie screens in past years. Her last picture was the unreleased comedy "It's a Mad, Mad Mad, Mad World" in which she plays a police station switchboard operator.

Even though she became an important movie actress, Miss Pitts was never convinced that she was funny.

"I honestly don't think I'm funny," she said. Millions of moviegoers would disagree.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — A jury in Baltimore County Circuit Court has awarded $57,850 damages to six minor children of a Carroll County woman killed on Easter Sunday, 1960, when struck by a Western Maryland train.

The victim, Mrs. Francenia Becker, 42, of Taneytown, was riding in an automobile being driven by her husband, Oscar L. Becker, when the accident happened. The jury awarded no damages to the husband and specified all the money was to go to the children, whose ages ranged from 2 to 16 years at the time of the accident.

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — The U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals turned down Friday a petition for a grand jury investigation of alleged anti-trust law violations by major oil companies in Maryland.

The petition, by A&H Transportation Inc., headed by Harry Waller, has been rejected previously by the U.S. District Court at Baltimore.

The appeals court said authority to summon grand juries is vested with the district court and that it found no abuse of this discretion on the part of the lower court.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Anne Arundel County is going to check on fund-raising campaigns in its public schools this summer with the possibility of abolishing them.

Mrs. D. Ellwood Wlliams Jr., a member of the Board of Education, suggested a ban on fund raising in the schools.

"Teachers attend school to teach and students to learn," she said, and neither should be used as money collectors or salesmen.

Chimp Is Sought After Biting Girl

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — The State Health Department and State Police are seeking the owners of a trained chimpanzee which they say bit an 8-year-old Luzerne County girl.

The chimpanzee is part of an act which performed with a circus at nearby Idetown last Monday night. The performance was billed as Dante's Act. The present whereabouts of the act are not known here. But one report said it is en route to Florida.

Dr. Richard Potter, regional director for the Health Department, said the child, whose name was withheld, was bitten on several fingers.

He said that if the chimpanzee can be found the owners will be asked to quarantine it for 10 days to determine whether it has rabies.

Sugar Deliveries Up 17 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — American markets got 17 per cent more sugar in the first five months of this year than in the like period last year, says an Agriculture Department report.

Deliveries by refiners, beet sugar processors, importers and sugar cane processors in the Florida-Louisiana producing area totaled 4,181,000 tons to June 1 compared with 3,574,000 tons in the corresponding period last year.

Officials said Friday these delivery figures substantiate previous statements that there is no shortage of sugar in this country or cause for the earlier sharp price increases or for stockpiling in fear of shortages. Deliveries in May totaled 1,025,000 tons, by far the largest quantity sold in the market in any one month since last August.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Maybe you will remember me. I wrote to you three weeks ago and signed my letter "Randy." I just wanted to tell you how things turned out.

Remember how I thought for sure it was love? I wanted to give Dottie my class ring and my I.D. bracelet. I even wanted to buy her a $5 box of candy. I was like crazy, Ann.

My head felt light as a feather. When I looked at Dottie I got weak in the knees and almost fainted. I perspired until my shirt was soaked through. My appetite was shot and I couldn't even look at food. Mom told me I looked terrible and she called a doctor.

Well, it wasn't love after all. It was the flu. I'm feeling fine now and I'm dating Dottie but I'm going with other girls, too. I just thought you might like to know I'm flying right. And thanks for your advice to simmer down and relax. I think it speeded up my recovery.—BACK TO NORMAL

DEAR NORMAL: I'm glad to know you are enjoying the best of health and that your head is now on straight. An awful lot passes for love these days that isn't love at all. And it isn't the flu either. It's the chemistry of youth, plus confusion

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have always believed in tipping — whether I go to a coffee counter or to a fancy restaurant. It's a habit that comes as naturally as paying the check.

My problem is a sticky one because it involves a young man I'm very fond of. He never leaves a tip. This young man is not hard up for money. He's just thoughtless. I've been on the verge of mentioning it many times but I'm afraid of hurting his feelings.

We often go back to the same places and I am embarrassed because I'm sure the waiters and waitresses have his number. What should I do? — STILL WATERS

DEAR STILL WATERS: Tipping is part of our system — whether we are for it or against it. And because it's a built-in custom, some people are totally dependent on tips.

Tell the young man he should leave the waiter or waitress about 15% of the check. If he's a decent guy he will appreciate your interest.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I could have hugged you when you told that woman to get off the floor and stop being a doormat. My minister gave me the same advice 10 years ago and it was the best thing that ever happened to me.

I have five small children and was afraid to speak up to my husband for fear he would leave me. I felt like an unpaid servant. He'd finish dinner and run to his mother's house every night to play cards and drink beer with his no-good brothers. He said the kids made him nervous and he had to get out of the house.

After crying my eyes out for months I decided to talk to my clergyman. He said, "What if your husband died. You'd have to manage without him, wouldn't you? Tell him to grow up and act like a man or go to his mother's and stay there."

Well, I told him, Ann, just like the minister suggested and he almost fell off the chair. Believe me he's been a different person ever since. Now he treats me with consideration and respect. The woman who allows herself to be kicked around by her husband deserves it. — FROM DOORMAT TO PEDESTAL

DEAR PEDESTAL: Congratulations on the transition. I am a firm beliver in getting off the floor if you don't like being kicked around. It's always a joy to hear from someone who woke up and smelled the coffee. Thanks for writing.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NUTS TO CRAZY TAXES: People are usually down on things they aren't up on. This is not a political column, but what you don't know about THAT subject would fill a library.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann landers will be glade to help you with your problems. Send them to her care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Secrets Of Charm

Water And Weight

"Why," asks a reader, "do nutrition experts advise against drinking water with meals? Is water fattening?"

Although water is not fattening, it can affect your weight. And water is most likely to add to the weight of those who are overweight when it is sipped along with a meal.

There are a number of contributing factors. In the first place, water releases from the mouth the enjoyable taste of the just-swallowed food; then the taste buds clamor for more of the same food.

Another reason why water taken with the meal can abet your avoirdupois is that its fluid bulk tends to stretch the normal capacity of the stomach, making is possible for you to consume a greater quantity of food without discomfort.

The string-beal gal should also forego liquids at meals, but for different reasons. Because underweight people do not get the same enjoyment from tastes and flavors, they are not led on to taking another bite and then another after each sip of water. Furthermore, in their smaller-than-average stomachs, the fluid can actually act as filler, stealing the space needed for fattening, high calorie foods.

But no matter how you weigh in, never neglect getting your six glasses of water each day. Your body loses about two pints of water in every twenty-four hours and unless you replace it, your health and loveliness will suffer the consequences. Skin denied the proper amount of moisture dries up like a raisin.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Maybe you will remember me. I wrote to you three weeks ago and signed my letter "Randy." I just wanted to tell you how things turned out.

Remember how I thought for sure it was love? I wanted to give Dottie my class ring and my I.D. bracelet. I even wanted to buy her a $5 box of candy. I was like crazy, Ann.

My head felt light as a feather. When I looked at Dottie I got weak in the knees and almost fainted. I perspired until my shirt was soaked through. My appetite was shot and I couldn't even look at food. Mom told me I looked terrible and she called a doctor.

Well, it wasn't love after all. It was the flu. I'm feeling fine now and I'm dating Dottie but I'm going with other girls, too. I just thought you might like to know I'm flying right. And thanks for your advice to simmer down and relax. I think it speeded up my recovery.—BACK TO NORMAL

DEAR NORMAL: I'm glad to know you are enjoying the best of health and that your head is now on straight. An awful lot passes for love these days that isn't love at all. And it isn't the flu either. It's the chemistry of youth, plus confusion

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have always believed in tipping — whether I go to a coffee counter or to a fancy restaurant. It's a habit that comes as naturally as paying the check.

My problem is a sticky one because it involves a young man I'm very fond of. He never leaves a tip. This young man is not hard up for money. He's just thoughtless. I've been on the verge of mentioning it many times but I'm afraid of hurting his feelings.

We often go back to the same places and I am embarrassed because I'm sure the waiters and waitresses have his number. What should I do? — STILL WATERS

DEAR STILL WATERS: Tipping is part of our system — whether we are for it or against it. And because it's a built-in custom, some people are totally dependent on tips.

Tell the young man he should leave the waiter or waitress about 15% of the check. If he's a decent guy he will appreciate your interest.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I could have hugged you when you told that woman to get off the floor and stop being a doormat. My minister gave me the same advice 10 years ago and it was the best thing that ever happened to me.

I have five small children and was afraid to speak up to my husband for fear he would leave me. I felt like an unpaid servant. He'd finish dinner and run to his mother's house every night to play cards and drink beer with his no-good brothers. He said the kids made him nervous and he had to get out of the house.

After crying my eyes out for months I decided to talk to my clergyman. He said, "What if your husband died. You'd have to manage without him, wouldn't you? Tell him to grow up and act like a man or go to his mother's and stay there."

Well, I told him, Ann, just like the minister suggested and he almost fell off the chair. Believe me he's been a different person ever since. Now he treats me with consideration and respect. The woman who allows herself to be kicked around by her husband deserves it. — FROM DOORMAT TO PEDESTAL

DEAR PEDESTAL: Congratulations on the transition. I am a firm beliver in getting off the floor if you don't like being kicked around. It's always a joy to hear from someone who woke up and smelled the coffee. Thanks for writing.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NUTS TO CRAZY TAXES: People are usually down on things they aren't up on. This is not a political column, but what you don't know about THAT subject would fill a library.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann landers will be glade to help you with your problems. Send them to her care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Secrets Of Charm

Water And Weight

"Why," asks a reader, "do nutrition experts advise against drinking water with meals? Is water fattening"

Although water is not fattening, it can affect your weight. And water is most likely to add to the weight of those who are overweight when it is sipped along with a meal.

There are a number of contributing factors. In the first place, water releases from the mouth the enjoyable taste of the just-swallowed food; then the taste buds clamor for more of the same food.

Another reason why water taken with the meal can abet your avoirdupois is that its fluid bulk tends to stretch the normal capacity of the stomach, making is possible for you to consume a greater quantity of food without discomfort.

The string-beal gal should also forego liquids at meals, but for different reasons. Because underweight people do not get the same enjoyment from tastes and flavors, they are not led on to taking another bite and then another after each sip of water. Furthermore, in their smaller-than-average stomachs, the fluid can actually act as filler, stealing the space needed for fattening, high calorie foods.

But no matter how you weigh in, never neglect getting your six glasses of water each day. Your body loses about two pints of water in every twenty-four hours and unless you replace it, your health and loveliness will suffer the consequences. Skin denied the proper amount of moisture dries up like a raisin.

SOMETHING OLD — SOMETHING NEW

These — without anything borrowed or blue — can give to her Wedding Day the sure promise of happiness.

Something old? A faith in God such as has been the foundation of life for millions of Christians before her. A simple conviction found in the religious instruction she received as a child, nurtured in regular worship at Church, ready to go with her through the years.

Something new? A love for the one she has consented to marry. A tender devotion that will grow richer and deeper as they share the sunshine and shadows of life.

With these two—the "something old" that lives in her soul, and the "something new" that thrills in her heart—she comes to her husband. And if he comes to her bearing the same treasures, their marriage cannot fail!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SOMETHING OLD — SOMETHING NEW

These — without anything borrowed or blue — can give to her Wedding Day the sure promise of happiness.

Something old? A faith in God such as has been the foundation of life for millions of Christians before her. A simple conviction found in the religious instruction she received as a child, nurtured in regular worship at Church, ready to go with her through the years.

Something new? A love for the one she has consented to marry. A tender devotion that will grow richer and deeper as they share the sunshine and shadows of life.

With these two—the "something old" that lives in her soul, and the "something new" that thrills in her heart—she comes to her husband. And if he comes to her bearing the same treasures, their marriage cannot fail!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Intolerance In U.S. Hampers Missionaries

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—A Methodist bishop referred to intolerance in this country as causing difficulties for missionaries in Africa during an address to the 179th Baltimore Annual Conference of the Methodist Church.

Bishop Newell S. Booth, missionary bishop of Methodist work in the Republic of the Congo (Leopoldville) made the reference during one of two addresses he delivered Friday at the conference on the grounds of Western Maryland College.

"Our task is made harder by the fact that Christians in America have not learned to treat people as people nor to live together in mutual respect and esteem," he said.

Missionary work has changed in recent years in that a missionary often finds himself working with an indigenous church that is part of the World Council of Churches but unconnected to any American denominations, Bishop Booth said.

The "apostle-type" missionary, preaching the Gospel, has given ways to the "fellow workman" type of missionary, he said.

This type, he explained, "is not an ambassador for the American way of life, nor for Western culture, not even an ambassador of the Methodist Church as we understand our church."

The conference selected the Rev. Clarence L. Fossett, district superintendent of the Baltimore East District, as a delegate to the General Conference of the Church to be held in April, 1964 in Pittsburgh, Pa. His selection completes the choosing of the ten-man delegation. The other members were selected Thursday.

The New Street Methodist Church of Shepherdstown, W. Va., received an award Friday as Town and Country Church of the Year. The pastor, the Rev. Albert C. Burton, accepted the award presented by the Rev. Charles Subock of the Savage, Md., church, who was chairman of the selecting committee.

The conference continues until Sunday when the more than 700 ministers and laymen attending will observe the service of ordination.

Beall Unearths 'Amazing' Waste In Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., passed on to his constitutents what he called "some amazing" items of waste in the foreign aid program.

In a newsletter, Beall said a congressional committee recently came up with such things as:

—One thousand 23-inch television sets ordered for use in community education programs in underdeveloped countries overseas at a cost of $400,000 for areas with no electric power.

—Foreign aid funds used to buy suits for undertakers in Greece.

—U.S. aid to Kenya was used to buy extra wives for government officials.

—A stockbreeding farm was erected in Lebanon with U.S. aid; nine stalls were built for each bull.

Based on speeches by some leaders in countries aided, Beall said, the United States is certainly not buying good will with its aid dollars.

'Urban Renewal' May Be Observed In Baltimore

Western Marylanders who may be visiting in Baltimore today will have the opportunity of inspecting some homes which have become nationally recognized as a model community of urban renewal through private initiative.

Eleven homes in the 900 block Tyson Street in Baltimore will be open from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. in the 13th annual Tyson Street open house. Residents of the rehabilitated community of small mid-city homes open them and their gardens to public inspection for a charity. This year all receipts will benefit the Maryland Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Less than two decades ago, Tyson Street was recognized as one of the worst slum areas in Baltimore. Since 1946, all of the 19 small homes in the 900 block have been modernized and completely rehabilitated.

Orange Rust Danger Cited

County Agent Joseph M. Steger reported yesterday that he has received a warning on orange rust of black raspberries from Dr. L. O. Weaver, state pathologist.

Dr. Weaver said that orange rust is prevalent on black raspberries and wild blackberries. Infected plants are easily detected. Diseased plants produce many spindly shoots. The rust causes a stunting and plants produce little or no fruit.

As soon as rust appears in a planting, the diseased plants should be removed by digging out the roots. There is danger of spreading the spores so orange-colored plants should be burned or sprayed with weed killer.

Rust-infected wild brambles are a constant threat to cultivated black raspberries. Wild blackberries should be destroyed with weed killers.

Dr. Weaver concluded by noting that a heavy loss of plants from orange rust reduces yields appreciably.

AFL-CIO Board Supports Equal Employment

BALTIMORE (AP)—The executive board of the Maryland-District of Columbia AFL-CIO voted unanimously Friday to support civil rights efforts for equal employment and service of Negroes in hotels, motels and restaurants.

J. C. Turner, second vice president of the group, proposed that the council push for an emergency session of the Maryland General Assembly if a petitionist group is successful in blocking the public accommodations bill passed by the 1963 legislature.

"Organized labor must identify itself more closely with the aspirations of minority groups," Turner said.

Turner said any emergency session of the General Assembly also should consider passing a fair employment law, barring racial discrimination in hiring and placement.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People already has indicated it will make a major push in Baltimore for equal hiring practices. The NAACP says Baltimore will be the second target city for such an effort, Philadelphia being the first. Violence broke out in Philadelphia when mass protests against job discrimination were staged there last week.

Intolerance In U.S. Hampers Missionaries

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—A Methodist bishop referred to intolerance in this country as causing difficulties for missionaries in Africa during an address to the 179th Baltimore Annual Conference of the Methodist Church.

Bishop Newell S. Booth, missionary bishop of Methodist work in the Republic of the Congo (Leopoldville) made the reference during one of two addresses he delivered Friday at the conference on the grounds of Western Maryland College.

"Our task is made harder by the fact that Christians in America have not learned to treat people as people nor to live together in mutual respect and esteem," he said.

Missionary work has changed in recent years in that a missionary often finds himself working with an indigenous church that is part of the World Council of Churches but unconnected to any American denominations, Bishop Booth said.

The "apostle-type" missionary, preaching the Gospel, has given ways to the "fellow workman" type of missionary, he said.

This type, he explained, "is not an ambassador for the American way of life, nor for Western culture, not even an ambassador of the Methodist Church as we understand our church."

The conference selected the Rev. Clarence L. Fossett, district superintendent of the Baltimore East District, as a delegate to the General Conference of the Church to be held in April, 1964 in Pittsburgh, Pa. His selection completes the choosing of the ten-man delegation. The other members were selected Thursday.

The New Street Methodist Church of Shepherdstown, W. Va., received an award Friday as Town and Country Church of the Year. The pastor, the Rev. Albert C. Burton, accepted the award presented by the Rev. Charles Subock of the Savage, Md., church, who was chairman of the selecting committee.

The conference continues until Sunday when the more than 700 ministers and laymen attending will observe the service of ordination.

'Urban Renewal' May Be Observed In Baltimore

Western Marylanders who may be visiting in Baltimore today will have the opportunity of inspecting some homes which have become nationally recognized as a model community of urban renewal through private initiative.

Eleven homes in the 900 block Tyson Street in Baltimore will be open from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. in the 13th annual Tyson Street open house. Residents of the rehabilitated community of small mid-city homes open them and their gardens to public inspection for a charity. This year all receipts will benefit the Maryland Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Less than two decades ago, Tyson Street was recognized as one of the worst slum areas in Baltimore. Since 1946, all of the 19 small homes in the 900 block have been modernized and completely rehabilitated.

Orange Rust Danger Cited

County Agent Joseph M. Steger reported yesterday that he has received a warning on orange rust of black raspberries from Dr. L. O. Weaver, state pathologist.

Dr. Weaver said that orange rust is prevalent on black raspberries and wild blackberries. Infected plants are easily detected. Diseased plants produce many spindly shoots. The rust causes a stunting and plants produce little or no fruit.

As soon as rust appears in a planting, the diseased plants should be removed by digging out the roots. There is danger of spreading the spores so orange-colored plants should be burned or sprayed with weed killer.

Rust-infected wild brambles are a constant threat to cultivated black raspberries. Wild blackberries should be destroyed with weed killers.

Dr. Weaver concluded by noting that a heavy loss of plants from orange rust reduces yields appreciably.

City Issues Four Building Permits

Four building permits were issued by the City of Cumberland yesterday following approval of the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Ollie M. Keller, 626 Frederick Street, received a permit to build a one-story, 24 by 35 foot dwelling at 1005 Frederick Street.

Melvin G. Cline, 1121 Elk Avenue, received a permit to enclose the front porch of a dwelling located at 47-49 Humbird Street.

George H. Brabson, Star Route, Frosburg, was granted a permit to construct an addition to a dwelling at 952 Glenwood Street.

A permit for a garage at the rear of her home at 725 Oldtown Road was issued to Mrs. Richard Van Horn.

AFL-CIO Board Supports Equal Employment

BALTIMORE (AP)—The executive board of the Maryland-District of Columbia AFL-CIO voted unanimously Friday to support civil rights efforts for equal employment and service of Negroes in hotels, motels and restaurants.

J. C. Turner, second vice president of the group, proposed that the council push for an emergency session of the Maryland General Assembly if a petitionist group is successful in blocking the public accommodations bill passed by the 1963 legislature.

"Organized labor must identify itself more closely with the aspirations of minority groups," Turner said.

Turner said any emergency session of the General Assembly also should consider passing a fair employment law, barring racial discrimination in hiring and placement.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People already has indicated it will make a major push in Baltimore for equal hiring practices. The NAACP says Baltimore will be the second target city for such an effort, Philadelphia being the first. Violence broke out in Philadelphia when mass protests against job discrimination were staged there last week.

Negotiation Is Needed Here

A Scottish member of the British Parliament complained in the House of Commons recently that bagpipes are being imported into Great Britain from Pakistan. The protest was sounded by James Dempsey, member from Airdrie, deep in the ancestral lair of those controversial wind instruments (bagpipes, not Scots).

But Dempsey didn't get very far with his complaint. He asked how many bagpipes were imported last year, but was told by a government member that "imports of bagpipes are not separately distinguished." No doubt the government was ashamed to release the figure.

The tragedy of it all is that things might have been so different if President de Gaulle had permitted Britain to participate in the European Common Market. Scotland is said, by Dempsey, to have a declining economy. Surely the impetus given by ECM tariff schedules would have resulted in the countrysides of member nations—including France, Italy and the "Benelux" countries—becoming loud with the wail of genuine Scottish bagpipes.

Those who claim that this merely proves de Gaulle knew what he was doing, protecting continental Europe from the bonny pipes, stir controversy. But it must be admitted that for some musically sensitive folk, a test ban agreement for bagpipes would have more appeal than one governing nuclear explosions.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Letting Enemy Off The Hook

By some dogged fatality, the United States has let every one of its mortal enemies off the hook since the "peace without victory" conclusion of the Korean War. Last Autumn we had Khrushchev on the run in Cuba, but since then we have permitted his forces to filter back. Like the golfer with no follow-through, we seem unable ever to capitalize on a stroke that starts out with real power.

Now comes the news that there is a movement afoot to help the Red Chinese recoup their strength by trade with the U.S. after the abject failure of Mao Tse-tung's Great Leap Forward, which has deprived the Peking government of everything but the ability to yell at Khrushchev. An organization called the Committee for a Review of Our China Policy has been set up on the Pacific Coast, with headquarters in Eugene, Oregon. Its co-chairmen are Charles O. Porter, a former Congressman, and Ernest T. Nash, former Deputy Secretary of the International Government in Shanghai. Porter and Nash have requested Washington for permission to sponsor a trade delegation to the Chinese trade fair in Canton next October, with a possible view to legalizing trade with Mao Tse-tung's Communist regime.

According to publicity from the Porter-Nash group, they have received a tentatively favorable response from Presidential Assistant McGeorge Bundy. He is represented as saying that U. S. policy on the desirability of permitting a trade delegation to go to Canton, is now under review by the State Department. "As you point out," Bundy is quoted as writing to Porter, "there are a great many factors to be considered in dealing with the problems of contacts with the Peiping regime, not the least of which has been their steadfast refusal to permit any visitors to the Mainland who are not of their own choosing."

Such a statement commits Bundy to nothing, but the very suggestion that the Department of State might reconsider our ban on trading with Mao Tse-tung has an ominous connotation. Senator Wayne Morse has been pushing for a re-examination of our trade policies; he reports an increasing interest on the West Coast in selling to China, and hopes for some response in Washington to this interest.

If there were any real likelihood that the peace of the world could be made certain by letting U. S. wheat, steel and machinery go to rebuild Red China's wasted muscles, then this column would be for it. But the whole character of Mao Tse-tung's regime makes such an assumption completely untenable. Back in the days when they were getting help from Soviet Russia the Red Chinese did not scruple to attack the United States forces in Korea. They desisted from carrying through with their threats to seize the island of Quemoy as a stepping stone to Formosa only because the U. S. refused to panic and because the Russians failed to supply enough air power to put Chiang Kai-shek's Sabrejets out of business.

Is there any reason to believe that Mao's implacable government would be grateful for a peaceful gesture from Washington, or for the goods that might flow into Chinese ports as a result of a relaxation of the trade ban?

A reviving Red China would certainly turn its attention to the "liberation" of Formosa once more. And, since the U. S. is committed both by its interests and its honor to protect Formosa as a shining example of good "agrarian reform" in the Far East, we would have to help counter any bellicose threats to the island from the Chinese mainland. It would be like punching ourselves on the jaw to build Red China up only to have to knock it down again by sending the Seventh Fleet back into the waters between Formosa and the Red Chinese coast.

Quite aside from questions of national security, there is the problem of what we might receive from the Red Chinese in exchange for wheat, steel and machinery. Red China's big export of the moment is dope. The Red Chinese, according to Valentin Chu, are now getting an estimated gross of a billion U. S. dollars a year from the illegal trade in opium and opium derivatives. Much of the dope winds up in American cities after transshipment through Cuba.

So we should help Mao Tse-tung's bums debauch our youth by letting wheat, steel and machinery from the U. S. balance the opium trade? Can we be that mad?

'Now—About The Merits Of The Moonshot'

The Economic Basis Of U.S. Racial Discontent

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Back in the Depression days of 1936, a prominent Negro politician in Pittsburgh told this writer why he had changed from being a Republican to a Democrat. He had previously served for a few years as an assistant U. S. attorney general in Washington. The appointment had been given him by a Republican administration.

"Make no mistake about it," he said. "Don't be fooled by all the talk about social equality. We really don't want it. But what we do want is economic opportunity for the Negro — and you can't have that with millions of persons unemployed."

These words came to mind on reading this week a sharply worded statement by C. Wilson Harder, president of the National Federation of Independent Business, Inc., which claims to have the largest individual membership of any business organization in the United States. In a letter to President Kennedy, Mr. Harder — one of the many white men in the business world sympathetic to the cause of jobless Negroes — says in part:

"John L. Lewis once told one of your predecessors, 'You can't dig coal with bayonets.' It would also seem this is most applicable to the current strife over civil rights. Bayonets cannot achieve tolerance. Before it is to late, it would be well to recognize the basic cause of all this turmoil. That cause is an economic one. . . .

"All this race strife is engendered, not because of differences in schools, or differences in any other facilities. The real root can aptly be termed 'belly' racism. If the free-enterprise system were working in America as it should be operating, there would be full employment, opportunity for all, and there would be an end to race disturbances. After all, the American Negro, comprising ten per cent of the nation's population, is also a market of consumers.

"This is not a problem of the South. The flames of violence are being fed in the North, and the fuel that feeds these flames are economic in nature. In any major metropolis of the North to which the Negroes have migrated, the relief load is high, the relief costs are creating more and more of a burden on the taxpayers. This, in itself, will create more and more animosity, and feelings engendered by economic considerations, as history shows, are the most violent of all. . . . Employed citizens are not rioting citizens."

The foregoing in a way emphasizes the shortsightedness of Republican leaders who today merely parrot the Democrats on "civil rights" issues as if that's the way to win Negro votes, when the real emphasis should be on how to bring about full employment. If jobs become scarce or if Negroes are favored against whites just for political purposes, the antagonism to Negroes inside certain labor unions even in the North will continue to grow.

Chairman Adam Clayton Powell of the House Education and Labor Committee, a Negro, points out that even in a prosperous community like Washington, D. C., three times as many Negroes are unemployed as whites, and that 70 per cent of the people in the national capital on the relief rolls are Negroes.

Dr. Kenneth B. Clark, a prominent Negro spokesman who is professor of psychology at City College in New York City, says this week in a copyrighted interview in "U. S. News & World Report":

"Negroes are protesting against racial discrimination in jobs that is as insidious in the North as throughout the South — in spite of state laws against discrimination in employment. New York City is offered as an example of liberal legislation and practices on this subject. Yet the fact of the matter is that even here the overwhelming majority of Negroes and Puerto Ricans are relegated to menial, low-paid jobs and are exploited by labor unions as much as by employers. . . .

"The job discrimination against Negroes has been so widespread and has continued for so long that you may have to engage in some kind of compensatory positive discrimination to overcome the effects of this long-standing injustice. I think that employers will have to go out and actively recruit Negroes as Negroes.

"Obviously, an employer cannot employ an incompetent Negro merely because he is a Negro. But, if it is necessary for business and industry to develop specialized training programs in order to be able to employ a representative number of Negroes in skilled managerial and executive positions — then this must be done."

As America continues to increase in population, the problem of finding jobs for competent individuals in all races will grow. The politicians may think that their chatter about "civil rights" will win them votes, but they will find out in time that only full employment in an expanding economy will reduce the basic discontent which is really aggravating the race problem in America today.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

LOW TAG STATUS—The struggle for prestige never ebbs. For years, the District of Columbia, like most of the 50 states, has been allotting low auto tags to government leaders, prominent personages and the higher echelons of just plain celebrities.

This year, the Washington solons have extended the practice to the issuance of dog tags, or rather, they've improved on existing practice.

The local licensing bureau has issued dog tags Nos. 1, 2 and 3 to the White House, especially for "Charlie" the Welsh terrier, "Pushinka," the mongrel of Soviet orbital parentage, and "Clipper," the German shepherd. Charlie had been No. 1 previously, but Pushinka and Clipper were moved up from 9 and 10.

The two dogs bumped "Little Beagle," Vice President L. B. Johnson's mutt, to No 4, and J. Edgar Hoover's two cairn terriers to 5 and 6.

What we don't understand is how Attorney General Bobby Kennedy failed to use his White House influence to get a low tag number for the huge animal he calls a dog that keeps him company in his government office.

Government Attitudes On Junketing Depend On Who's Going For A Ride

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The rules of junketing are completely different, depending on just who it is who's taking the junkets.

For instance, fifteen news photographers and newsmen are being dropped from the President's trip to Italy and Germany because one plane is overcrowded, and the White House says it can't afford the expense of hiring another. Yet each newsman pays for his own airplane flight. The White House supplies the plane and correlates the flight, but members of the press are paying passengers.

Here are some interesting contrasts regarding other junkets:

1. Secretary of Defense McNamara recently commandeered an entire jet for himself and wife and flew from Washington to Honolulu for a weekend.

2. Last fall, Ike's old plane, the Columbine, flew the House Banking and Currency Committee Congressmen and their wives around the world on a de luxe junket at government expense.

3. This winter, special de luxe junkets were arranged for Congressmen to visit Guantanamo and scowl across the barbed wire at Castro. It became almost a commuting service — all at the taxpayers' expense.

4. Rep. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina gets a special Air Force plane free, almost whenever he asks for it, to take him back to Charleston, S. C., for weekends.

5. Top Navy admirals used special planes to fly to Puerto Rico last month to mingle with Navy lobbyists at the annual Navy League jamboree.

Yet the White House kicks fifteen photographers and reporters who want to pay their fares, off the Presidential trip to Europe on the grounds of economy.

Wives Are Boss

At a bull session of the Federal Communications Commission, the men who regulate radio-TV stations recently were confessing how they themselves are subject to their wives.

"Who is the boss in your house?" Commissioner Robert Lee demanded of Commissioner Rosel Hyde.

"My wife," Hyde said without hesitation.

"In my house, I am the boss," boasted Commissioner Lee. "And my wife has authorized me to say so."

Wheat-Cotton Axis

If you want to see whether there's going to be a wheat bill or not, watch the joint operations of Senators Milt Young, the North Dakota Republican, and Dick Russell, the Georgia Democrat, together with Lister Hill, the Alabama Democrat. Though they come from opposite parts of the USA and belong to different political parties, they follow a very similar vote pattern.

In Senate cloakrooms, their cooperation is called the wheat-cotton axis. The North Dakotan sticks with Russell and Hill on Cotton while Georgia and Alabama Senators stick with Young on wheat. It doesn't make any difference what the Secretary of Agriculture says, they can usually call the tune when it comes to the two great stable farm commodities of the USA.

Much of their power derives from the fact that all three are members of the Appropriations Committee for Agriculture, and can pass appropriations bills affecting farmers. Or they retaliate against other appropriations bills favored by Senators who don't vote for wheat and cotton.

Fishy Ambassador

When President Kennedy turned up at the big birthday dinner in New York the other day, he bumped into his new ambassador for fish, former Sen. Ben Smith of Massachusetts.

With them was Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., chief fish champion of the Senate, and the man who persuaded Kennedy to appoint a special ambassador to protect the fishing industry in its problems with Ecuador, Japan and the Soviet.

Ambassador Smith, an old friend of Kennedy's, was looking elegant in white tie and tails.

"What are you doing there?" joked the President. "Why aren't you down at the Fulton Fish Market with your fishing togs on?"

Early next morning Ambassador Smith telephoned to say that he was at the Fulton Fish Market.

NOTE: Smith's No. 1 problem is probably going to be with Canada. A few days after the salubrious conference between JFK and new Prime Minister Lester Pearson, the Canadian government banned all American fishing boats within the 12-mile limit. The administration is trying to play down this fishing crisis, but it could become as important as the Bomarc missile argument between Kennedy and ex-Prime Minister Diefenbaker. The United States claims American fishermen have the right to fish within three miles of the Canadian coast, in other words up to the international boundary. Canada is now citing the old prohibition boundary fixed under the Hoover administration by which the United States claimed the right to stop and search foreign vessels up to 12 miles offshore.

Eternal Small Town

By John Crosby

ROME.

Rome is a small town. Two million people live here, it's true, but that means only that it's a big small town, the biggest. Still, it has all the aspects that give a small town its special qualities.

Everyone, as they say, knows everyone. In a town of two million this can't be true, but then it isn't true in small towns either. What is true is that there is only one big circle here instead of a lot of little ones as there are in New York and London and Paris.

In New York or London or Paris, it's quite possible for one man to belong to five or six circles, but the circles remain separate, spinning in their own orbits. Here there's one big circle that spills out from the cafes on the Via Veneto to the villas on the Appia Antica and the beaches at Fragele. Everyone knows pretty well who's got who by the hair and who's yelling ouch.

Another thing — as in all small towns the world over—there isn't much to do. There's no theater to speak of, the opera is lousy, the movies—well, every small town's got movies.

There are only three night clubs: the Cabala, which may be the most beautiful night club in the world, the Eighty-Four and Capriccio's which are much too noisy. Here again there's a great resemblance to small town juke joints where the same crowd gathers night after night, telling variants of the same joke and dancing to the same old records. I don't mean it's dull. It's very warm and agreeable, but nevertheless very small town.

In the small town they used to gather at the railway station and watch the trains come in. (Now there aren't any railway stations and no trains, so they gather at the airport.) Here they gather at the Via Veneto cafes—for the same purpose—to cast an appraising look over the new arrivals. To chaw a bit with the old residents. Same thing.

The fewness of things to do, places to go, the ease with which one slips into the stream and drifts along with it, gives Rome its special flavor and is both a blessing and a curse. Indolence is a way of life here and the very ease of it gets on American nerves after a while. The other night I was having dinner with an American girl in a lovely piazza that is a miraculous harmony of geometry. The fountain splashed. The air was balmy. The moon lit the scene like candlelight. In fact, the whole bit was just plain heaven, and in spite of it, or rather, I suspect, because of it, the girl, who has been living here a year, burst out:

"I've just got to go home. I can't stand any more of these crumbling buildings and those damned fountains making that splashing racket." (Reminds me of the guy with a hangover snarling at his cat: "Whyn't you stop stamping your bloody feet!")

Ask an American who's been here awhile how he likes it, and you are likely to get what I call the Rome pause. "Well . . ." he says and hesitates, not knowing quite how to continue. It's a complaining type "well" and what he's complaining about is the absence of things to complain about.

Life should have a little more friction than that. Recently someone wrote of the islands of the South Pacific that the first day the cerulean sky, the sapphire sea, the blazing colors, the smells so captivated the new visitor that he never wanted to leave. But after a month the same visitor couldn't wait to go. The assault on the senses was too blatant, the sky too blue, the the weather too, too . . .

Here the discontent is subtler, a sort of discontent with contentment. The living's too easy. At least too easy for some Americans, not all of them. There are many Americans who have lived here for 15 or 20 years, wouldn't live anywhere else in the world, and are, in fact, unfitted to live anywhere else. In that respect, Rome at this particular epoch reminds me of Negley Farson's description of St. Petersburg before World War I. He said, as I recall, that he found members of the international set roaming the world looking for another pre-World War I St. Petersburg and not finding it. Post-World War II Rome may acquire a reputation like that.

One of the many things that fascinated me about "La Dolce Vita" was a great motionless party scene. The camera provided all the movement, slithering from guest to guest, men, women, sitting motionless, silent, frozen, drained of all energy, speech, and even volition. The very motionlessness of the actors gave the scene a fierce impact. A great many Roman parties are like that. People stare at one another, without discomfort, feeling no compulsion to say anything. In this Eternal Small Town everything's long since been said.

One last, small, parenthetical, historical note on Fellini's sex orgies in "La Dolce Vita." If you ask about them, you get one of two responses. Response No. 1: "Fellini's nuts. There are no sex orgies. I've lived here 15 years, never heard of a sex orgy, and never met anyone who's heard of one. Fellini made it all up." Response No. 2: "Fellini's nuts. The sex orgies here are much more interesting than his sex orgies. I don't think he's ever been to one. Fellini made it all up."

Take your pick.

Amebiasis Still A Problem In United States

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Amebiasis continues to be a problem in these United States. In one area in the southwest, a positive blood test was found in 36 per cent of a random sampling of 100 individuals. This is incredible, even though the area is known to be heavily infested with the parasites.

This disorder, formerly called amebic dysentery, is named after a tiny ameba that lives in the intestinal tract of man. It belongs to a primitive class of organism, consisting of a single cell, which multiplies by dividing. In no time, one becomes two, two become four, and four become eight.

These critters enter the body through contaminated food or water. The entire family ought to be examined when one member is found to have the disease. In addition, the water, ice, and food supply should be examined for purity. The afflicted individual must wash the hands vigorously, especially after each visit to the bathroom, to prevent self-reinfection as well as spread of the disease to others.

The ameba settles in the wall of the intestine and produces a small ulcer. The resulting irritation leads to recurring attacks of diarrhea, griping abdominal pains, nausea, and occasionally vomiting. Some infested persons have no intestinal complaints but consult a physician because of marked fatigue, weight loss, or slight fever.

But some are wholly unaware of the infestation. These people are carriers and pose a dangerous problem when they are none too clean about their personal habits or are professional food handlers.

The diagnosis is made by finding the parasites in the stools. It may be necessary to examine several specimens before positive results are obtained. In one of my patients, the parasites were found in the 11th specimen. A blood test also is available but it is not as specific as the stool analysis.

Atabrine and carbarsone are the best remedies. These are used together but the remedy can be rough because ractions may occur.

Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflets on amebiasis if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Negotiation Is Needed Here

A Scottish member of the British Parliament complained in the House of Commons recently that bagpipes are being imported into Great Britain from Pakistan. The protest was sounded by James Dempsey, member from Airdrie, deep in the ancestral lair of those controversial wind instruments (bagpipes, not Scots).

But Dempsey didn't get very far with his complaint. He asked how many bagpipes were imported last year, but was told by a government member that "imports of bagpipes are not separately distinguished." No doubt the government was ashamed to release the figure.

The tragedy of it all is that things might have been so different if President de Gaulle had permitted Britain to participate in the European Common Market. Scotland is said, by Dempsey, to have a declining economy. Surely the impetus given by ECM tariff schedules would have resulted in the countrysides of member nations—including France, Italy and the "Benelux" countries—becoming loud with the wail of genuine Scottish bagpipes.

Those who claim that this merely proves de Gaulle knew what he was doing, protecting continental Europe from the bonny pipes, stir controversy. But it must be admitted that for some musically sensitive folk, a test ban agreement for bagpipes would have more appeal than one governing nuclear explosions.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Letting Enemy Off The Hook

By some dogged fatality, the United States has let every one of its mortal enemies off the hook since the "peace without victory" conclusion of the Korean War. Last Autumn we had Khrushchev on the run in Cuba, but since then we have permitted his forces to filter back. Like the golfer with no follow-through, we seem unable ever to capitalize on a stroke that starts out with real power.

Now comes the news that there is a movement afoot to help the Red Chinese recoup their strength by trade with the U.S. after the abject failure of Mao Tse-tung's Great Leap Forward, which has deprived the Peking government of everything but the ability to yell at Khrushchev. An organization called the Committee for a Review of Our China Policy has been set up on the Pacific Coast, with headquarters in Eugene, Oregon. Its co-chairmen are Charles O. Porter, a former Congressman, and Ernest T. Nash, former Deputy Secretary of the International Government in Shanghai. Porter and Nash have requested Washington for permission to sponsor a trade delegation to the Chinese trade fair in Canton next October, with a possible view to legalizing trade with Mao Tse-tung's Communist regime.

According to publicity from the Porter-Nash group, they have received a tentatively favorable response from Presidential Assistant McGeorge Bundy. He is represented as saying that U. S. policy on the desirability of permitting a trade delegation to go to Canton, is now under review by the State Department. "As you point out," Bundy is quoted as writing to Porter, "there are a great many factors to be considered in dealing with the problems of contacts with the Peiping regime, not the least of which has been their steadfast refusal to permit any visitors to the Mainland who are not of their own choosing."

Such a statement commits Bundy to nothing, but the very suggestion that the Department of State might reconsider our ban on trading with Mao Tse-tung has an ominous connotation. Senator Wayne Morse has been pushing for a re-examination of our trade policies; he reports an increasing interest on the West Coast in selling to China, and hopes for some response in Washington to this interest.

If there were any real likelihood that the peace of the world could be made certain by letting U. S. wheat, steel and machinery go to rebuild Red China's wasted muscles, then this column would be for it. But the whole character of Mao Tse-tung's regime makes such an assumption completely untenable. Back in the days when they were getting help from Soviet Russia the Red Chinese did not scruple to attack the United States forces in Korea. They desisted from carrying through with their threats to seize the island of Quemoy as a stepping stone to Formosa only because the U. S. refused to panic and because the Russians failed to supply enough air power to put Chiang Kai-shek's Sabrejets out of business.

Is there any reason to believe that Mao's implacable government would be grateful for a peaceful gesture from Washington, or for the goods that might flow into Chinese ports as a result of a relaxation of the trade ban?

A reviving Red China would certainly turn its attention to the "liberation" of Formosa once more. And, since the U. S. is committed both by its interests and its honor to protect Formosa as a shining example of good "agrarian reform" in the Far East, we would have to help counter any bellicose threats to the island from the Chinese mainland. It would be like punching ourselves on the jaw to build Red China up only to have to knock it down again by sending the Seventh Fleet back into the waters between Formosa and the Red Chinese coast.

Quite aside from questions of national security, there is the problem of what we might receive from the Red Chinese in exchange for wheat, steel and machinery. Red China's big export of the moment is dope. The Red Chinese, according to Valentin Chu, are now getting an estimated gross of a billion U. S. dollars a year from the illegal trade in opium and opium derivatives. Much of the dope winds up in American cities after transshipment through Cuba.

So we should help Mao Tse-tung's bums debauch our youth by letting wheat, steel and machinery from the U. S. balance the opium trade? Can we be that mad?

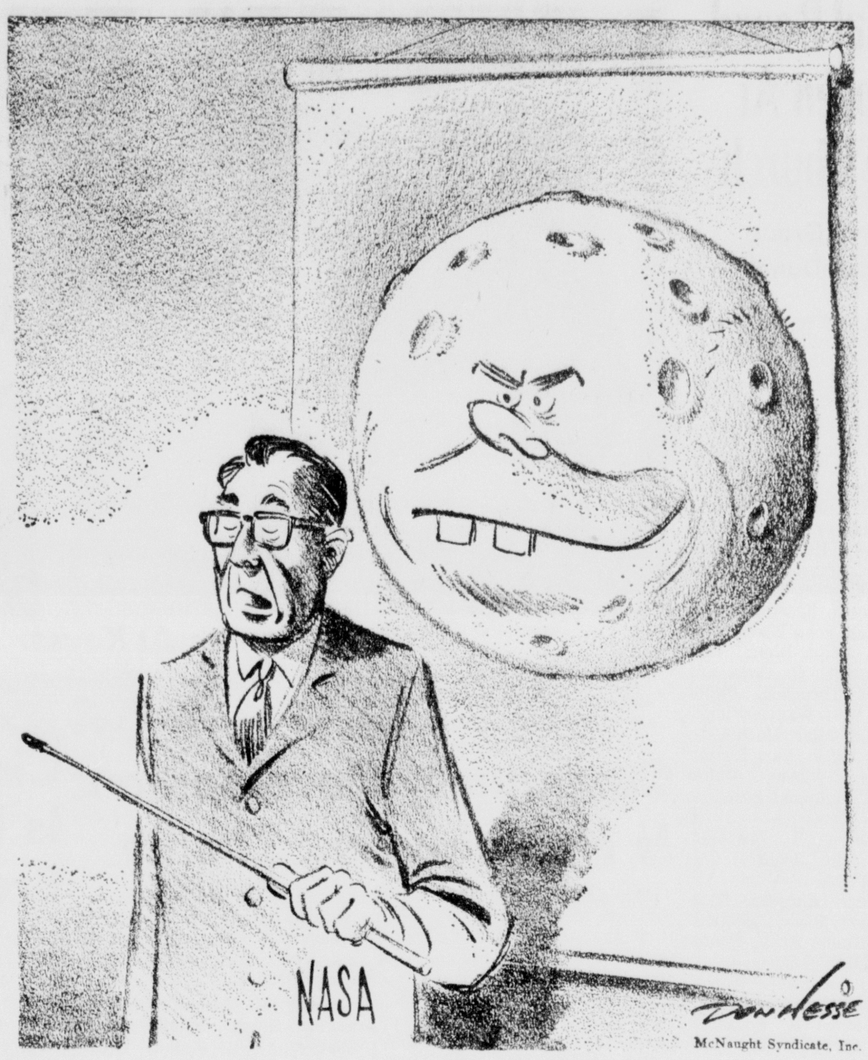
'Now—About The Merits Of The Moonshot'



The Economic Basis Of U.S. Racial Discontent

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Back in the Depression days of 1936, a prominent Negro politician in Pittsburgh told this writer why he had changed from being a Republican to a Democrat. He had previously served for a few years as an assistant U. S. attorney general in Washington. The appointment had been given him by a Republican administration.

"Make no mistake about it," he said. "Don't be fooled by all the talk about social equality. We really don't want it. But what we do want is economic opportunity for the Negro — and you can't have that with millions of persons unemployed."

These words came to mind on reading this week a sharply worded statement by C. Wilson Harder, president of the National Federation of Independent Business, Inc., which claims to have the largest individual membership of any business organization in the United States. In a letter to President Kennedy, Mr. Harder — one of the many white men in the business world sympathetic to the cause of jobless Negroes — says in part:

"John L. Lewis once told one of your predecessors, 'You can't dig coal with bayonets.' It would also seem this is most applicable to the current strife over civil rights. Bayonets cannot achieve tolerance. Before it is to late, it would be well to recognize the basic cause of all this turmoil. That cause is an economic one. . . .

"All this race strife is engendered, not because of differences in schools, or differences in any other facilities. The real root can aptly be termed 'belly' racism. If the free-enterprise system were working in America as it should be operating, there would be full employment, opportunity for all, and there would be an end to race disturbances. After all, the American Negro, comprising ten per cent of the nation's population, is also a market of consumers.

"This is not a problem of the South. The flames of violence are being fed in the North, and the fuel that feeds these flames are economic in nature. In any major metropolis of the North to which the Negroes have migrated, the relief load is high, the relief costs are creating more and more of a burden on the taxpayers. This, in itself, will create more and more animosity, and feelings engendered by economic considerations, as history shows, are the most violent of all. . . . Employed citizens are not rioting citizens."

The foregoing in a way emphasizes the shortsightedness of Republican leaders who today merely parrot the Democrats on "civil rights" issues as if that's the way to win Negro votes, when the real emphasis should be on how to bring about full employment. If jobs become scarce or if Negroes are favored against whites just for political purposes, the antagonism to Negroes inside certain labor unions even in the North will continue to grow.

Chairman Adam Clayton Powell of the House Education and Labor Committee, a Negro, points out that even in a prosperous community like Washington, D. C., three times as many Negroes are unemployed as whites, and that 70 per cent of the people in the national capital on the relief rolls are Negroes.

Dr. Kenneth B. Clark, a prominent Negro spokesman who is professor of psychology at City College in New York City, says this week in a copyrighted interview in "U. S. News & World Report":

"Negroes are protesting against racial discrimination in jobs that is as insidious in the North as throughout the South — in spite of state laws against discrimination in employment. New York City is offered as an example of liberal legislation and practices on this subject. Yet the fact of the matter is that even here the overwhelming majority of Negroes and Puerto Ricans are relegated to menial, low-paid jobs and are exploited by labor unions as much as by employers. . . .

"The job discrimination against Negroes has been so widespread and has continued for so long that you may have to engage in some kind of compensatory positive discrimination to overcome the effects of this long-standing injustice. I think that employers will have to go out and actively recruit Negroes as Negroes.

"Obviously, an employer cannot employ an incompetent Negro merely because he is a Negro. But, if it is necessary for business and industry to develop specialized training programs in order to be able to employ a representative number of Negroes in skilled managerial and executive positions — then this must be done."

As America continues to increase in population, the problem of finding jobs for competent individuals in all races will grow. The politicians may think that their chatter about "civil rights" will win them votes, but they will find out in time that only full employment in an expanding economy will reduce the basic discontent which is really aggravating the race problem in America today.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

LOW TAG STATUS—The struggle for prestige never ebbs. For years, the District of Columbia, like most of the 50 states, has been allotting low auto tags to government leaders, prominent personages and the higher echelons of just plain celebrities.

This year, the Washington solons have extended the practice to the issuance of dog tags, or rather, they've improved on existing practice.

The local licensing bureau has issued dog tags Nos. 1, 2 and 3 to the White House, especially for "Charlie" the Welsh terrier, "Pushinka," the mongrel of Soviet orbital parentage, and "Clipper," the German shepherd. Charlie had been No. 1 previously, but Pushinka and Clipper were moved up from 9 and 10.

The two dogs bumped "Little Beagle," Vice President L. B. Johnson's mutt, to No 4, and J. Edgar Hoover's two cairn terriers to 5 and 6.

What we don't understand is how Attorney General Bobby Kennedy failed to use his White House influence to get a low tag number for the huge animal he calls a dog that keeps him company in his government office.

Government Attitudes On Junketing Depend On Who's Going For A Ride

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The rules of junketing are completely different, depending on just who it is who's taking the junkets.

For instance, fifteen news photographers and newsmen are being dropped from the President's trip to Italy and Germany because one plane is overcrowded, and the White House says it can't afford the expense of hiring another. Yet each newsman pays for his own airplane flight. The White House supplies the plane and correlates the flight, but members of the press are paying passengers.

Here are some interesting contrasts regarding other junkets:

1. Secretary of Defense McNamara recently commandeered an entire jet for himself and wife and flew from Washington to Honolulu for a weekend.

2. Last fall, Ike's old plane, the Columbine, flew the House Banking and Currency Committee Congressmen and their wives around the world on a de luxe junket at government expense.

3. This winter, special de luxe junkets were arranged for Congressmen to visit Guantanamo and scowl across the barbed wire at Castro. It became almost a commuting service — all at the taxpayers' expense.

4. Rep. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina gets a special Air Force plane free, almost whenever he asks for it, to take him back to Charleston, S. C., for weekends.

5. Top Navy admirals used special planes to fly to Puerto Rico last month to mingle with Navy lobbyists at the annual Navy League jamboree.

Yet the White House kicks fifteen photographers and reporters who want to pay their fares, off the Presidential trip to Europe on the grounds of economy.

Wives Are Boss

At a bull session of the Federal Communications Commission, the men who regulate radio-TV stations recently were confessing how they themselves are subject to their wives.

"Who is the boss in your house?" Commissioner Robert Lee demanded of Commissioner Rosel Hyde.

"My wife," Hyde said without hesitation.

"In my house, I am the boss," boasted Commissioner Lee. "And my wife has authorized me to say so."

Wheat-Cotton Axis

If you want to see whether there's going to be a wheat bill or not, watch the joint operations of Senators Milt Young, the North Dakota Republican, and Dick Russell, the Georgia Democrat, together with Lister Hill, the Alabama Democrat. Though they come from opposite parts of the USA and belong to different political parties, they follow a very similar vote pattern.

In Senate cloakrooms, their cooperation is called the wheat-cotton axis. The North Dakotan sticks with Russell and Hill on Cotton while Georgia and Alabama Senators stick with Young on wheat. It doesn't make any difference what the Secretary of Agriculture says, they can usually call the tune when it comes to the two great stable farm commodities of the USA.

Much of their power derives from the fact that all three are members of the Appropriations Committee for Agriculture, and can pass appropriations bills affecting farmers. Or they retaliate against other appropriations bills favored by Senators who don't vote for wheat and cotton.

Fishy Ambassador

When President Kennedy turned up at the big birthday dinner in New York the other day, he bumped into his new ambassador for fish, former Sen. Ben Smith of Massachusetts.

With them was Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., chief fish champion of the Senate, and the man who persuaded Kennedy to appoint a special ambassador to protect the fishing industry in its problems with Ecuador, Japan and the Soviet.

Ambassador Smith, an old friend of Kennedy's, was looking elegant in white tie and tails.

"What are you doing there?" joked the President. "Why aren't you down at the Fulton Fish Market with your fishing togs on?"

Early next morning Ambassador Smith telephoned to say that he was at the Fulton Fish Market.

NOTE: Smith's No. 1 problem is probably going to be with Canada. A few days after the salubrious conference between JFK and new Prime Minister Lester Pearson, the Canadian government banned all American fishing boats within the 12-mile limit. The administration is trying to play down this fishing crisis, but it could become as important as the Bomarc missile argument between Kennedy and ex-Prime Minister Diefenbaker. The United States claims American fishermen have the right to fish within three miles of the Canadian coast, in other words up to the international boundary. Canada is now citing the old prohibition boundary fixed under the Hoover administration by which the United States claimed the right to stop and search foreign vessels up to 12 miles offshore.

Eternal Small Town

By John Crosby

ROME.

Rome is a small town. Two million people live here, it's true, but that means only that it's a big small town, the biggest. Still, it has all the aspects that give a small town its special qualities.

Everyone, as they say, knows everyone. In a town of two million this can't be true, but then it isn't true in small towns either. What is true is that there is only one big circle here instead of a lot of little ones as there are in New York and London and Paris.

In New York or London or Paris, it's quite possible for one man to belong to five or six circles, but the circles remain separate, spinning in their own orbits. Here there's one big circle that spills out from the cafes on the Via Veneto to the villas on the Appia Antica and the beaches at Fragele. Everyone knows pretty well who's got who by the hair and who's yelling ouch.

Another thing — as in all small towns the world over—there isn't much to do. There's no theater to speak of, the opera is lousy, the movies—well, every small town's got movies.

There are only three night clubs: the Cabala, which may be the most beautiful night club in the world, the Eighty-Four and Capriccio's which are much too noisy. Here again there's a great resemblance to small town juke joints where the same crowd gathers night after night, telling variants of the same joke and dancing to the same old records. I don't mean it's dull. It's very warm and agreeable, but nevertheless very small town.

In the small town they used to gather at the railway station and watch the trains come in. (Now there aren't any railway stations and no trains, so they gather at the airport.) Here they gather at the Via Veneto cafes—for the same purpose—to cast an appraising look over the new arrivals. To chaw a bit with the old residents. Same thing.

The fewness of things to do, places to go, the ease with which one slips into the stream and drifts along with it, gives Rome its special flavor and is both a blessing and a curse. Indolence is a way of life here and the very ease of it gets on American nerves after a while. The other night I was having dinner with an American girl in a lovely piazza that is a miraculous harmony of geometry. The fountain splashed. The air was balmy. The moon lit the scene like candlelight. In fact, the whole bit was just plain heaven, and in spite of it, or rather, I suspect, because of it, the girl, who has been living here a year, burst out:

"I've just got to go home. I can't stand any more of these crumbling buildings and those damned fountains making that splashing racket." (Reminds me of the guy with a hangover snarling at his cat: "Whyn't you stop stamping your bloody feet!")

Ask an American who's been here awhile how he likes it, and you are likely to get what I call the Rome pause. "Well . . ." he says and hesitates, not knowing quite how to continue. It's a complaining type "well" and what he's complaining about is the absence of things to complain about.

Life should have a little more friction than that. Recently someone wrote of the islands of the South Pacific that the first day the cerulean sky, the sapphire sea, the blazing colors, the smells so captivated the new visitor that he never wanted to leave. But after a month the same visitor couldn't wait to go. The assault on the senses was too blatant, the sky too blue, the the weather too, too . . .

Here the discontent is subtler, a sort of discontent with contentment. The living's too easy. At least too easy for some Americans, not all of them. There are many Americans who have lived here for 15 or 20 years, wouldn't live anywhere else in the world, and are, in fact, unfitted to live anywhere else. In that respect, Rome at this particular epoch reminds me of Negley Farson's description of St. Petersburg before World War I. He said, as I recall, that he found members of the international set roaming the world looking for another pre-World War I St. Petersburg and not finding it. Post-World War II Rome may acquire a reputation like that.

One of the many things that fascinated me about "La Dolce Vita" was a great motionless party scene. The camera provided all the movement, slithering from guest to guest, men, women, sitting motionless, silent, frozen, drained of all energy, speech, and even volition. The very motionlessness of the actors gave the scene a fierce impact. A great many Roman parties are like that. People stare at one another, without discomfort, feeling no compulsion to say anything. In this Eternal Small Town everything's long since been said.

One last, small, parenthetical, historical note on Fellini's sex orgies in "La Dolce Vita." If you ask about them, you get one of two responses. Response No. 1: "Fellini's nuts. There are no sex orgies. I've lived here 15 years, never heard of a sex orgy, and never met anyone who's heard of one. Fellini made it all up." Response No. 2: "Fellini's nuts. The sex orgies here are much more interesting than his sex orgies. I don't think he's ever been to one. Fellini made it all up."

Take your pick.

Keyser Defeats Follansbee, 2-0, In State Tournament Opener

Turbin Scores Sixth Shutout Win Of Season

Hurls Three-Hitter In Rain Abbreviated Tilt At Parkersburg

Terry Turbin pitched Keyser High School into the semi-final round of the West Virginia state high school baseball tournament yesterday when he turned back Follansbee High School, of Brooke county, in a rain-abbreviated first round game at Parkersburg by the score of 2-0.

A downpour halted hostilities after 5½ innings of play and washed out the other three opening round contests scheduled for Friday.

Posts 6th Shutout

Turbin held Follansbee to three singles in recording his sixth shutout of the campaign as he posted his tenth victory against a single defeat. The win was the 13th in 15 outings for Coach Frederick "Tack" Clark's Region 4 champions.

Keyser scored its two runs in the fourth inning off Ed Attanas, who went the route for Follansbee. Herb Harman drew a pass, advanced to second on Tommy Payne's base hit and scored the first run on Russell "Rusty" Hamilton's single to right-center. After Bill Simmons' fielder's choice nipped Payne at third base Bill Dawson doubled to left-center scoring Hamilton.

Payne accounted for two of Keyser's six hits off Attanas who fanned six and issued one walk. Turbin struck out one and gave up one pass.

Fielding highlights included Forrest Cosner's throw from centerfield which cut down a Follansbee runner at third base and Darrell Rotruck's running catch in left field of a long drive from the bat of Joe Geggin.

Weather permitting, the other three opening round games will be played today, starting at 10 a.m. Huntington is to meet marsh Fork, Fairview faces Beckley and favorite East Bank battles Harrisville.

Finals Next Week

If the first round games are completed Saturday, the semi-finals will be played Monday evening and the finals either late Monday evening or Tuesday night.

Dodgers Halt Cubs' Streak At Five, 4-1

Drysdale Notches Seventh Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, aided by back-to-back homers by Frank Howard and John Roseboro and strikeout artist Don Drysdale's steady hurling, snapped the hot Chicago Cubs' five-game win string 4-1 Friday.

The defeat jolted the sizzling Cubs out of a tie for first place in the National League.

The Cubs had won 11 of their previous 13 starts.

Drysdale, fanning nine to boost his league-leading strikeout total to 99, scattered seven Cub hits, yielded only an unearned run in the fifth and did not issue a walk. It was Drysdale's seventh victory against six defeats.

The loser was Paul Toth, making his first Cub start of the season.

Willie Davis opened the Dodger fifth with the second of his three singles, stole second, took third on Drysdale's single off Toth's glove and scored on a force play. Drysdale eventually also scored on an infield out.

Walt Hansgen Scores

The Major's Record

Babst Award Is 39th

BY C. V. BURNS

Gary Cooper, 17, of Burlington, is the West Virginia junior trap-shooting champion for 1963. He's a junior at Keyser High School.

Cooper the title in the 43rd annual shoot last weekend at the Jefferson County Izaak Walton Club at Leetown. He broke 89 out of 100 clay targets.

The junior champion is a grandson of Arthur P. Hoffa, the well known Barton coal operator. Gary's mother was Elaine Hoffa.

Mr. Hoffa, who is 82 years old, and had served as mayor of Barton for 32 years until last week's election, also was a participant in the state shoot.

Other state champions crowned at Leetown were:

Singles — William C. Young, St. Albans; ladies — "Skipper" Winski, Wellersburg; doubles — Ira Eyler, Sr., Martinsburg; handicap — C. S. Shoemaker, Sr., Charles Town; all - around — Edward O. Smith, South Charleston.

The 1964 shoot will be staged at St. Albans.

Walter Hansgen, who finished second to Roger Penske in the feature event at the Cumberland National Sports Car Races several weeks ago, won the big race at Bridgehampton, Long Island, last Sunday.

The popular Westfield (N.J.) driver nailed his 7th major race in six years of racing at the New York track.

Walt averaged 91.2 miles per hour.

When Fort Hill defeated Allegany Thursday and sewed up the city and County League Baseball titles it was the 274th victory scored by a team coached by John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, since he took over the reins at Penn Avenue High School 31 years ago.

The Major's teams — baseball, basketball and football —have played 1,197 games, won 816, lost 372 and played two ties for an overall winning average is 69 per cent.

Here's how the Waterbury Wonder's teams have fared:

Sport	Yrs.	G.	W.	L.	T.

Keyser Defeats Follansbee, 2-0, In State Tournament Opener

Turbin Scores Sixth Shutout Win Of Season

Hurls Three-Hitter In Rain Abbreviated Tilt At Parkersburg

Terry Turbin pitched Keyser High School into the semi-final round of the West Virginia state high school baseball tournament yesterday when he turned back Follansbee High School, of Brooke county, in a rain-abbreviated first round game at Parkersburg by the score of 2-0.

A downpour halted hostilities after 5½ innings of play and washed out the other three opening round contests scheduled for Friday.

Posts 6th Shutout

Turbin held Follansbee to three singles in recording his sixth shutout of the campaign as he posted his tenth victory against a single defeat. The win was the 13th in 15 outings for Coach Frederick "Tack" Clark's Region 4 champions.

Keyser scored its two runs in the fourth inning off Ed Attanas, who went the route for Follansbee. Herb Harman drew a pass, advanced to second on Tommy Payne's base hit and scored the first run on Russell "Rusty" Hamilton's single to right-center. After Bill Simmons' fielder's choice nipped Payne at third base Bill Dawson doubled to left-center scoring Hamilton.

Payne accounted for two of Keyser's six hits off Attanas who fanned six and issued one walk. Turbin struck out one and gave up one pass.

Fielding highlights included Forrest Cosner's throw from centerfield which cut down a Follansbee runner at third base and Darrell Rotruck's running catch in left field of a long drive from the bat of Joe Geggin.

Weather permitting, the other three opening round games will be played today, starting at 10 a.m. Huntington is to meet marsh Fork, Fairview faces Beckley and favorite East Bank battles Harrisville.

Finals Next Week

If the first round games are completed Saturday, the semi-finals will be played Monday evening and the finals either late Monday evening or Tuesday night.

Dodgers Halt Cubs' Streak At Five, 4-1

Drysdale Notches Seventh Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, aided by back-to-back homers by Frank Howard and John Roseboro and strikeout artist Don Drysdale's steady hurling, snapped the hot Chicago Cubs' five-game win string 4-1 Friday.

The defeat jolted the sizzling Cubs out of a tie for first place in the National League.

The Cubs had won 11 of their previous 13 starts.

Drysdale, fanning nine to boost his league-leading strikeout total to 99, scattered seven Cub hits, yielded only an unearned run in the fifth and did not issue a walk. It was Drysdale's seventh victory against six defeats.

The loser was Paul Toth, making his first Cub start of the season.

Willie Davis opened the Dodger fifth with the second of his three singles, stole second, took third on Drysdale's single off Toth's glove and scored on a force play. Drysdale eventually also scored on an infield out.

Cooper State Champ

Walt Hansgen Scores

The Major's Record

Babst Award Is 39th

BY C. V. BURNS

Gary Cooper, 17, of Burlington, is the West Virginia junior trap-shooting champion for 1963. He's a junior at Keyser High School.

Cooper the title in the 43rd annual shoot last weekend at the Jefferson County Izaak Walton Club at Leetown. He broke 89 out of 100 clay targets.

The junior champion is a grandson of Arthur P. Hoffa, the well known Barton coal operator. Gary's mother was Elaine Hoffa.

Mr. Hoffa, who is 82 years old, and had served as mayor of Barton for 32 years until last week's election, also was a participant in the state shoot.

Other state champions crowned at Leetown were:

Singles — William C. Young, St. Albans; ladies — "Skipper" Winski, Wellersburg; doubles — Ira Eyler, Sr., Martinsburg; handicap — C. S. Shoemaker, Sr., Charles Town; all - around — Edward O. Smith, South Charleston.

The 1964 shoot will be staged at St. Albans.

Walter Hansgen, who finished second to Roger Penske in the feature event at the Cumberland National Sports Car Races several weeks ago, won the big race at Bridgehampton, Long Island, last Sunday.

The popular Westfield (N.J.) driver nailed his 7th major race in six years of racing at the New York track.

Walt averaged 91.2 miles per hour.

When Fort Hill defeated Allegany Thursday and sewed up the city and County League Baseball titles it was the 274th victory scored by a team coached by John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, since he took over the reins at Penn Avenue High School 31 years ago.

The Major's teams — baseball, basketball and football —have played 1,197 games, won 816, lost 372 and played two ties for an overall winning average is 69 per cent.

Here's how the Waterbury Wonder's teams have fared:

Sport	Yrs.	G.	W.	L.	T.
Baseball	31	417	274	142	1
Football	5	39	17	14	8
Basketball	30	741	525	216	0
Totals		1197	816	372	9

THE WINNER of the 39th annual Babst Award will receive a Hamilton wrist watch Wednesday night at the 75th annual commencement of Allegany High School, according to its donor, Charles E. Babst, of Charlotte, N. C.

Babst, an alumnus of Allegany County High School, and an employe of Celanese Fibers Company, instituted the award in 1925 and it is the oldest of the athletic awards in Allegany county schools.

Edgar Wolfe was the first winner and his brother Albert was honored two years later. Jim Gaffney was the 1939 winner and his son Robert copped it 21 years later. Kenny Davis was the first Negro to capture the award and that was one year ago.

Candy Spots Odds-On Favorite In Today's 95th Belmont Stakes

Chateaugay 2nd Choice In Field Of Seven Colts

Aqueduct Scene Of Third Event In Triple Crown

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Candy Spots was rated the odds-on favorite at 1-4 to capture the 95th Belmont Stakes, transplanted to Aqueduct, on Saturday as seven 3-year-old colts were officially entered for the last of the big Triple Crown events.

Agreement is unanimous, even among rival trainers, that Rex C. Ellsworth and trainer Mesh Tenney from California have the solid horse for the tough 1½-mile classic. On the other hand, they point out, none of the starters' age ever has been asked to travel that distance.

There is only one way to find out, and that is to try on Candy Spots for size. The lanky chestnut was 3-2 favorite for the 1¼-mile Kentucky Derby May 4 and finished third. He was 3-2 favorite for the 1 3-16-mile Preakness May 18, and won.

Since New York legalized parimutuels in 1940, 10 of 16 odds-on favorites in the Belmont have been beaten.

Bonjour Third Choice

John W. Galbreath's Chateaugay, who won the Derby but finished second in the Preakness, is listed as second choice at 4-1, with Patrice Jacobs' Bonjour next at 8-1. Rounding out the field are Louis Lee Haggin 2nd's Choker and C. V. Whitney's Tom Cat, both 20-1; George D. Widener's Top Gallant, 2-1; and Wheatley Stable's Insurrection, 30-1. All will pack 126 pounds, same as for the Derby and Preakness.

The race was shifted this spring from Belmont Park, where it had been run since 1905. The stands there are unsafe.

After he routed his Preakness foes, Candy Spots stopped off at Garden State Park and grabbed the Jersey Derby — his fourth $100,000 haul of the season. Earlier he won the Santa Anita and Florida Derbies.

With seven going the Belmont will gross $145,450, the winner taking $101,700. Candy Spots already has earned $555,527.

Idle Since Preakness

Chateaugay has been idle since the Preakness, and that's no misstatement. The colt has been sulking, and giving trainer Jimmy Conway fits in his workouts. But, he's still the Kentucky Derby hero.

Bonjour is the only other horse who ran at Louisville, winding up sixth. He didn't tackle the Preakness. This is the speed colt who probably will be out on the front end setting the early pace for a mile—perhaps.

Top Gallant and Insurrection run like horses who would like the Belmont route. The only question is whether they can run 1½ miles fast enough to be there before Candy Spots. Top Gallant competed in the Jersey Derby, but disliked the off track nd ran fifth.

NO. 1 Post Position

Candy Spots has the nation's top money rider in Willie Shoemaker, who has won the race with Gallant Man (1957), Sword Dancer (1959), and Jaipur, for Widener in 1962. Shoemaker has a job, for Candy Spots drew the No. 1 post position.

Showers wet the track Friday, but clearing weather is forecast for a crowd of some 60,000. Post time is 3:48 p.m., EST.

Nationwide radio and television CBS, is set for 3:30-4 p.m., EST.

Luis Rodriguez Defends Title

Welter Champion Meets Griffith

NEW YORK (AP) — Welterweight champion Luis Rodriguez, winner of his last 12 fights, was a 13-10 underdog Friday for his return title bout with ex-champion Emile Griffith of New York Saturday night.

The odds may narrow down to even money by the time the fast-punching 47-pounders climb into the Madison Square Garden ring for the 15-round television contest.

The bout will be telecast by ABC-TV, starting at 9 p.m., EST.

Rodriguez, a clever boxer with nimble feet and shifty moves, dethroned the two-time champion on a unanimous but close 15-round decision at Los Angeles last March 21.

Griffith hopes to become the first boxer ever to win the welterweight title three times. Sugar Ray Robinson bossed the middleweight division five times.

Chances of a knockout are slim. Neither has been stopped before.

Rodriguez has a 50-2 won-lost record, including 21 knockouts. Griffith's record is 35-4, including 13 knockouts.

Candy Spots Odds-On Favorite In Today's 95th Belmont Stakes

Chateaugay 2nd Choice In Field Of Seven Colts

Aqueduct Scene Of Third Event In Triple Crown

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Candy Spots was rated the odds-on favorite at 1-4 to capture the 95th Belmont Stakes, transplanted to Aqueduct, on Saturday as seven 3-year-old colts were officially entered for the last of the big Triple Crown events.

Agreement is unanimous, even among rival trainers, that Rex C. Ellsworth and trainer Mesh Tenney from California have the solid horse for the tough 1½-mile classic. On the other hand, they point out, none of the starters' age ever has been asked to travel that distance.

There is only one way to find out, and that is to try on Candy Spots for size. The lanky chestnut was 3-2 favorite for the 1¼-mile Kentucky Derby May 4 and finished third. He was 3-2 favorite for the 1 3-16-mile Preakness May 18, and won.

Since New York legalized parimutuels in 1940, 10 of 16 odds-on favorites in the Belmont have been beaten.

Bonjour Third Choice

John W. Galbreath's Chateaugay, who won the Derby but finished second in the Preakness, is listed as second choice at 4-1, with Patrice Jacobs' Bonjour next at 8-1. Rounding out the field are Louis Lee Haggin 2nd's Choker and C. V. Whitney's Tom Cat, both 20-1; George D. Widener's Top Gallant, 2-1; and Wheatley Stable's Insurrection, 30-1. All will pack 126 pounds, same as for the Derby and Preakness.

The race was shifted this spring from Belmont Park, where it had been run since 1905. The stands there are unsafe.

After he routed his Preakness foes, Candy Spots stopped off at Garden State Park and grabbed the Jersey Derby — his fourth $100,000 haul of the season. Earlier he won the Santa Anita and Florida Derbies.

With seven going the Belmont will gross $145,450, the winner taking $101,700. Candy Spots already has earned $555,527.

Idle Since Preakness

Chateaugay has been idle since the Preakness, and that's no misstatement. The colt has been sulking, and giving trainer Jimmy Conway fits in his workouts. But, he's still the Kentucky Derby hero.

Bonjour is the only other horse who ran at Louisville, winding up sixth. He didn't tackle the Preakness. This is the speed colt who probably will be out on the front end setting the early pace for a mile—perhaps.

Top Gallant and Insurrection run like horses who would like the Belmont route. The only question is whether they can run 1½ miles fast enough to be there before Candy Spots. Top Gallant competed in the Jersey Derby, but disliked the off track nd ran fifth.

NO. 1 Post Position

Candy Spots has the nation's top money rider in Willie Shoemaker, who has won the race with Gallant Man (1957), Sword Dancer (1959), and Jaipur, for Widener in 1962. Shoemaker has a job, for Candy Spots drew the No. 1 post position.

Showers wet the track Friday, but clearing weather is forecast for a crowd of some 60,000. Post time is 3:48 p.m., EST.

Nationwide radio and television CBS, is set for 3:30-4 p.m., EST.

The Mountaineers finished their Allegany County League campaign with a 6-6 mark and had an overall record of 10-6.

Bill Diehl went the distance for Beall, yielded four hits, including a homer by Jim Guthrie and a two-bagger by Vernon Miller, and whiffed ten Bruce batsmen to record his third victory against as many losses.

Beall rapped Lefty Tom Malcolm and Vernon Miller for nine hits. Roger Cutter and "Chuck" Gray collected two hits each for Beall and G. Miller had two safeties for the Bulldogs.

Luis Rodriguez Defends Title

Welter Champion Meets Griffith

NEW YORK (AP) — Welterweight champion Luis Rodriguez, winner of his last 12 fights, was a 13-10 underdog Friday for his return title bout with ex-champion Emile Griffith of New York Saturday night.

The odds may narrow down to even money by the time the fast-punching 47-pounders climb into the Madison Square Garden ring for the 15-round television contest.

The bout will be telecast by ABC-TV, starting at 9 p.m., EST.

Rodriguez, a clever boxer with nimble feet and shifty moves, dethroned the two-time champion on a unanimous but close 15-round decision at Los Angeles last March 21.

Griffith hopes to become the first boxer ever to win the welterweight title three times. Sugar Ray Robinson bossed the middleweight division five times.

Chances of a knockout are slim. Neither has been stopped before.

Rodriguez has a 50-2 won-lost record, including 21 knockouts. Griffith's record is 35-4, including 13 knockouts.

Loch Lynn To Face Markleysburg Team In Sunday Feature

Loch Lynn and Markleysburg appear in the feature doubleheader tomorrow in the Town & Country Softball League.

The games will be played on the Pennsylvanians' field.

Loch Lynn is tied with Mt. Storm for first place at 8-2 while Markleysburg is one game off the pace with seven wins and three defeats.

In other Sunday twin bills at 2 p.m., Mt. Storm tests the National Guard (2-8) at Oakland, Swallow Falls (5-5) visits Kitzmiller (4-6), Oakland (6-4) tackles Accident (1-9) at the latter place and Petersburg (6-4) invades Garrett county to meet Friendsville (3-7).

Pittsburgh Tossers To Play Jimmie's

Jimmie's Market of the Tiptop Softball League will play the Bethel Park A. C., of the Pittsburgh City League, in a doubleheader Sunday at 2 p. m., at Naval Reserve Field.

Bethel Park is tied for first place in the 15-team Pittsburgh circuit with a 7-0 record.

Game Is Cancelled

The Allegany-Valley baseball game scheduled for next week has been cancelled, it was announced last evening by Coach Chester G. Payne of the Campers.

The league season officially closed yesterday with the playing of the Bruce-Beall game.

Game Is Forfeited

Shipping won by forfeit from the Curing Room yesterday in the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company Softball League.

Resurfacing Work To Begin Here Monday

Model Program Has Been Set Up

The 1963 street resurfacing program will begin Monday on Wempe Drive, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

It is one of nine city streets to be resurfaced by the Cumberland Contracting Company under a $23,326 contract which included the surfacing of 10 streets, including a short section of Wills Creek Avenue.

Mrs. Roeder said the firm hopes to finish blacktopping Wempe Drive on Monday and then move to West First Street.

On Wednesday and Thursday, the local firm is expected to move to the Thomas Street section, where it is engaged in a State Roads Commission contract on the south approach of the Cumberland Thruway.

Model Job Set

If weather permits the schedule presented to the Street Department, blacktopping crews should move to East Fourth Street next Friday to complete that area.

Next on the schedule are Windsor Road, Rose Hill Avenue and Kiefer Avenue on the West Side and East First Street and Linden Street, on the East Side.

From all indications, it will be a model resurfacing program.

Mrs. Roeder said Ray Valentine, street superintendent, reports all preliminary work has been completed on the streets.

This included notice, well in advance, to all utilities, asking them to make any necessary installations or repairs to lines before the streets are surfaced.

Street Department crews have patched potholes on the streets and have installed new curbs, where needed, on all areas under the control of the city.

Risers On Hand

The Engineering Department inspected all curbs and notified property owners of any needed curb repairs. Some but not all of these repairs have been made.

Where Kiefer Street intersects with Fayette Street, Street Department crews widened the intersection by 24 inches while installing new curbing.

Manholes and valve boxes will be raised two inches as the resurfacing crews reach each street.

Mrs. Roeder said the Sewer Department crews have rings and risers on hand to make the necessary changes in the height of the manholes.

Cobey Rejects Defense Moves

Two defense motions were overruled yesterday by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey, who then entered a judgement for $10,000 for Mrs. Grace V. Parker, a nurse at the County Home, in Allegany County Circuit Court.

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury had awarded Mrs. Parker a $10,000 verdict at the conclusion of the trial May 20. The verdict was found against Claude Lester Durst, driver of the car which struck Mrs. Parker at the intersection of Henderson and Baltimore avenues December 31, 1959; Ronald Scritchfield, driver of a truck which was following Durst's car, and Mary E. Blackshear, trading as Mary's Cleaners, owner of the truck which Scritchfield was driving.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney for Scritchfield and Mrs. Blackshear, made a motion May 23 for a new trial and a second motion for a judgement in favor of his clients despite the jury verdict. Judge Cobey overruled both motions.

Durst had argued that he struck Mrs. Parker because his attention was diverted by the cleaning truck, which was attempting to pass and turn onto Henderson Avenue behind him. The jury ruled both drivers were negligent.

Union Publication Cites Brewery Pact

Local 265, Brewery Workers Union, is cited in the current issue of the Brewery Workers Journal for the contract signed recently with the Cumberland Brewing Company and the Queen City Brewing Company.

The article is illustrated with a picture of the signing of the contract here.

The publication lauded the pact resulting from "good labor-management relations" and said it was significant in "the way it was accurately reported and hailed as milestone by the News-Times."

"It is a genuine pleasure," the publication said," to point out a newspaper for this kind of handling of a labor story . . ."

Dismissal Of Teachers' Suit Asked

Legal Officials Answer Charges

BALTIMORE (AP)—State legal officials have asked Circuit Court Judge Shirley Jones to dismiss a suit which asks that four Frostburg State Teachers College teachers be retained in their jobs.

The suit was filed last week on behalf of four English teachers whose contracts were not renewed and will expire June 30.

The teachers claim their academic freedom was violated and that they were dismissed illegally, without a hearing.

A reply filed by the state contends that no justifiable issue was raised in the plea because teachers without tenure have no right to a hearing under by-laws adopted by the State Teachers College Board of Trustees.

The teachers claim their dismissal resulted from their liberal ideas and from controversial novels they wished to use in the classroom.

The board of trustees refused to give them a hearing, allowing the decision of Frostburg's administration to stand.

The teachers are Dr. Edmund G. Skellings, Norris L. Merchant, John Cole and Francis L. Ireland.

Young Man Fined $500 In Juvenile Case

James Anthony Andrews, 20, of 8 Massachusetts Avenue, was fined $500 yesterday in Juvenile Court on a charge of contributing to delinquency of a minor.

Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin found Andrews guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a 13-year-old girl. The girl involved in the case was placed on probation without verdict.

Andrews was arrested earlier this week by City Police. County Investigator William F. Baker presented the state's case and Andrews was represented by Harold E. Naughton, local attorney.

In another hearing yesterday in Juvenile Court, Mrs. Dorothy Nesbitt, 208 Fulton Street, was found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a 13-year-old girl.

However, Magistrate Fatkin withheld sentence in the case until next Thursday.

The local woman was arrested by Tfc. Bernard F. Chabot, criminal investigator for the State Police, in connection with shoplifting at a LaVale store.

South End Home Is Damaged By Lightning Bolt

During yesterday's severe electrical storm, a bolt of lightning struck and damaged the chimney on a house at 7 Elder Street.

Firemen from South End station were called about noon to the two-story dwelling owned by E. C. Huff. They said the lightning damaged the chimney and the impact blew wallpaper off a stove pipe outlet in the dining room of the second floor apartment.

There was no fire, although soot from the chimney was spewed out onto the dining room floor. Firemen were out about 13 minutes.

Carry-Out Store Will Be Built

Arthur and Mildred Finneran have received a permit from the City of Cumberland to build a one-story storeroom at 808 North Mechanic Street for use as a seafood carry-out establishment.

It will be 40 by 46 feet and of concrete block construction. A two-car garage on the site will be torn down to make way for the business. Cost of the building was estimated at $5,000.

Federal Funds Are Sought On Seven Projects

Costs Estimated At Over $400,000

The City of Cumberland has submitted applications for federal aid, under the Accelerated Public Works program, for seven water and sewage projects estimated to cost more than $400,000.

Two of the projects have been approved and matching APW funds set aside. City officials hope to get approval of others in the near future.

Under the pump priming program, costs are shared equally by federal and local interests with the exception of any right of way costs, which must be met entirely by the city.

Project Begins

This week marked the start of construction of the first project approved — the Ridge Terrace sewer project.

The cost was estimated at $13,000, and the city was advised that $6,500 was being set aside to meet the federal costs.

The contract was awarded to the Hout Construction Company, low bidder, at $16,200. The government has indicated that it will try to match the additional costs.

Bids will be opened June 17 for the second approved project—the extension of an eight-inch sewer on Haddon Avenue to Williams Road. Half of the estimated $16,000 cost has been set aside by the government.

Seek Approval

Approval of other projects is being sought. They include:

Installation of a low-lift pumping station at Lake Gordon and the rehabilitation of the reservoir's inoperable gate chamber. Work is expected to cost about $149,000, with the city's share $74,500.

Laying of a 10-inch sanitary sewer on Golden Lane, from Willowbrook Road north. Cost is estimated at $10,000 with the city's share $5,000.

The extension of the 42-inch Frederick Street storm sewer from Linden Street to Henderson Avenue. Cost is estimated at $90,000 shared by the city and the government.

The Brinker Run encasement project is estimated to cost $126,000. The city's share would be $63,000.

The last is the Grand Avenue extension program. It is estimated to cost $38,000 with the city's cost $27,500.

County Farm Ponds Mapped

A map locating the 110 farm ponds in Allegany County has been prepared by the local Soil Conservation Service for the use of Allegany - Garrett Counties Firemen's Association.

The individual fire companies will visit owners of the ponds in their area to establish the exact location of the pond and also to get permission to use the pond in fire prevention. If permission is granted they will determine means of access to the farm pond and the volume of water available.

Martin M. Gordon, SCS work unit conservationist, said most of the 110 ponds pin-pointed on the map were planned and constructed with supervision of SCS personnel. Some of the ponds have been stocked with fish by the State Game and Inland Fish Commission upon request by the owner.

Gas Company Seeks Land In Hampshire Co.

2,000-Acre Area Is Near Augusta

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Gas Light Co. plans to acquire a 2,000 - acre area in West Virginia for the production and storage of natural gas, a company official said Friday.

Donald S. Bittinger, president of the company, said permission to operate the gas field in Hampshire County, W. Va., near Augusta, will be sought from the District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission and the West Virginia State Corporation Commission.

Use of the field for storage of gas would be a substitute location for a storage area the company had sought in Prince Georges County, Md. A bill which would have permitted the company to operate the Prince Georges field died in the last session of the Maryland House of Delegates.

The West Virginia project, Bittinger said, would involve creation of a subsidiary company, Hampshire Gas Co., to operate the field. It is estimated, company officials said, that the Hampshire County field contains at least 7.5 billion cubic feet of gas.

The company's announcement said Washington Gas Light's principal interest in the Hampshire County area is its "potential development as an underground storage field."

However, the announcement indicated additional operations because it said that if District of Columbia and West Virginia permission is obtained the company will proceed to acquire oil and gas leases covering approximately 37,000 acres. The locations were not pinpointed.

If the project is approved, the announcement said, the company plans initially to deliver Hampshire Gas Co. gas to Shenandoah Gas Co., another subsidiary, which supplies natural gas to the Winchester-Martinsburg area of Virginia and West Virginia.

If gas reserves proved sufficient, the company said, natural gas could be delivered also from West Virginia to the Washington area.

Council Of Alleghenies Publishes First Journal

The first constructive project of the Council of the Alleghenies has become a reality with the distribution yesterday of the first issue of the Journal of the Alleghenies.

Arthur P. Ziegler Jr., a member of the faculty of Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh, is editor of this quarterly publication which is beginning with a modest 12-page issue.

Mr. Ziegler begins this first issue with a brief column. In it he writes:

"Fresh Scholarship"

"We feel that this quarterly should concern itself with articles of fresh scholarship and valuable insights into the history, arts, literature and folklore of this tableland. And we print this prospectus issue to inform interested persons of our existence, our intentions and our purview."

Two articles and two book reviews are included in this first issue. Mr. Ziegler himself writes the first article entitled "The Worthy Vexation," history and life in the Allegheny Highlands. Clifford Hamrick and Robert Munn of West Virginia University have written the second article, "The Allegheny Highlands," a socio-economic portrait.

Books reviewed are "Research Opportunities in American Cultural History," edited by John Francis McDermott and "City and Country Life in America" by David R. Weimer. The reviewers are A. C. Willers of Carnegie Tech and Donald R. Spangler of Kent State University in Ohio.

The article by the two WVU faculty members carries with it a significant table gleaned from economic figures obtained during the 1960 Census.

Economic Data

This table contains data on per cent of families with annual incomes below $3,000 in 1960, median family income in 1960, population increase or decrease between 1950 and 1960 and median school years completed.

Thirty counties in the four states of West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania are included in the table. Generally, these counties have more than the national average of 21.7 per cent of families with annual incomes below $3,000 in 1960, are below the national median family income of $5,199, 18 of the 30 counties decreased in population while the national increase was averaging 18.5 per cent and are below the national average of 10.6 median school years completed as of 1960.

Allegany County's median family income in 1960 of $5,107 was higher than all but two of the 30 counties cited in the table. Westmoreland County, Pa., had a median family income of $5,597 in 1960 and neighboring Washington County was $38 ahead of Allegany County at $5,145.

Again Westmoreland County was the leader among the 30 in median school years completed in 1960, 10.1, but Allegany ranked second at 9.4 years.

Mailed with the first issue of the Journal of the Alleghenies was a note from Mr. Ziegler that the next meeting of the Council of the Alleghenies will be held at Penn Alps in Grantsville at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, July 20.

Milton Ogle, community development counselor for the Council of the Southern Mountains, will be the guest speaker on this occasion. This council is based at Berea College in Kentucky.

'Y' Has Openings For Pittsburgh Trip

Mr. Haines said there will be adult supervisors for the trip and parents also may accompany their children. There is a small fee for both YMCA members and non-members. Reservations are being accepted at the "Y."

The youngsters will visit Highland Park Zoo and then will have a two-hour swimming period in the park pool under the supervision of YMCA aquatic leaders.

Sugar Grove Funds Asked By Sen. Byrd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., Friday urged Senate restoration of $3,830,000 to the 1964 military construction authorization bill involving the Navy's abandoned radio astronomy center at Sugar Grove, W. Va.

Byrd, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, addressed his appeal to Sen. Richard Russell, committee chairman. "I have searched through the House report" on the bill, Byrd told Russell, "and I was unable to find any mention of the reasons" for House deletion of the Sugar Grove item."

The proposed allocation would include $3,480,000 for a Navy radio receiving facility and $350,000 for housing of personnel at Sugar Grove. "I understand from the Navy," Byrd said, "that a strong claim has been filed for restoration" of the funds.

"The Navy advises me," Byrd said, "that is imperative that the Navy receiving facility be moved from Cheltenham, Md., to Sugar Grove because of the high level of electronic interference now being received at the Maryland site.

Byrd said Sugar Grove was "ideally suited" for the radio facility because of its location, and in view of "a large amount" of money spent at the site before it was abandoned as a radio astronomy center.

Road Worker Upped Grade

Theodore Robertson, an employe of the Allegany County Roads Department for the past 17 years, yesterday was reclassified into pay grade 8 by the Board of County Commissioners.

This action was taken after the commissioners received an explanatory letter from Harry T. Skelly, county roads supervisor. Mr. Skelly explained that in order to operate graders and other heavy equipment it would be necessary for Mr. Robertson to be termed equipment operator I and placed in pay grade 8. In reinstating Mr. Robertson May 31, the county commissioners had classified him an equipment operator II and placed him in pay grade 9. Mr. Skelly said in such a classification he could not handle graders and other heavy equipment.

A former roads foreman in the Oldtown area, Mr. Robertson was suspended by the county commissioners March 8 for "unethical conduct." He appealed to the County Civil Service Commission, which recommended last night that he be reinstated but at a lesser job and not in the Oldtown area.

Beeman Pigeon Triumphs In 300-Mile Flight

Jonah from the Town View Loft of Galen Beeman won the seventh old bird race of the Allegany Racing Pigeon Club, a 300-mile flight from Cincinnati, Ohio.

Some 101 pigeons from nine lofts entered the race, contested against head winds, showers with overcast skies. It was considered a hard race. The winning bird averaged 1014.15 yards per minute.

Beeman's loft also had the second place finisher, Jasper, who averaged 1013.5 yards per minute.

Other pigeons among the first 10 included Barefoot, from Wing Ridge Loft of R. L. Spiker, third, 1013.42 yards; Silver Jack from Wodland Loft of Irvin Buskirk, fourth 1008.6 yards; Acorn, Oak Manor Loft of J. A. Hercsuth, fifth, 1008.17 yards; Blue Tie from Excello Loft of M. M. Green, sixth, 1007.25 yards; Silverette, also from Woodland Loft, seventh 1006.95 yards; Little Tom from Pear Alley Loft of J. H. Sweitzer, eighth, 1005.1 yards; Headwind also from Pear Alley Loft, ninth, 990.97 yards, and Red from Wing Ridge Loft, tenth, 989.05 yards per minute.

Next race will be a 400-mile flight from North Vernon, Indiana.

Road Program Financing Will Be Discussed

Study Committee May Be Appointed

BALTIMORE (AP) — The president of the Maryland senate plans to meet next week with Gov. Tawes to discuss appointing a special committee to help make recommendations for financing a multibillion dollar roads program.

Sen. William S. James, D-Harford, announced his plan Friday. Sen. James is also the head of the Legislative Council whose highway subcommittee has been working with the State Roads Commission on the recommendations. Sen. Edward O. Weant, D-Carroll, is chairman of the subcommittee.

The State Roads Commission presented a 20-year road construction program to the General Assembly earlier this year without suggesting how to finance the work, estimated to cost up to $6 billion.

Sen. James said the legislature must take some action during its 1964 session or the state would have no independent highway program for the following year, when the present program runs out.

Del. J. Glenn Beall, R-Allegany, house minority leader, accused the administration of backing away from the finance problem to avoid any major tax increases this year.

The commission's report was referred to the Legislative Council after it was reviewed during the legislative session by a subcommittee.

Hospital Plans At Memorial Nearly Ready

Bids Seen Likely After June 30

Architect's plans for the proposed new $2,305,000 addition to Memorial Hospital are expected to be in the hands of the Board of Governors by June 30 so the project can be advertised for bids.

This information was contained in a letter to Louis V. Shinnamon, president of the Board of County Commissioners, from George B. Newman, chairman of the Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Newman explained in the letter that 50 per cent of the cost, or $1,152,500, can be obtained from federal sources under the Accelerated Public Works Program. That is more than twice the $555,701 which the hospital board might have gotten in Hill-Burton money.

Three other sources are expected to supply the other 50 per cent of the hospital addition cost. The hospital itself will provide $152,500 while $500,000 each is anticipated from the City of Cumberland and Allegany County.

Mr. Newman wrote that in April Memorial Hospital continued to have the highest occupancy rate of any hospital in Maryland. With the exception of obstetrics, it was filled to 118 per cent of capacity, which meant that halls and every nook and corner were utilized.

The hospital board chairman also cited some of the advantages of the new plan for the hospital's addition. The original plan, which would have taken two years to complete, would have cut off 120 rooms of the existing hospital during part of the construction, resulting in the loss of about $900,000 in operating revenue.

The revised plan calls for construction of a separate building in one year with no interruption in present service. The new and old buildings then would be joined by a corridor.

The addition would increase the number of hospital beds from 258 to 312.

Mr. Newman concluded by offering to have John A. Moberly, hospital superintendent, meet with the county commissioners to discuss the plans in more detail.

Terrence M. McElfish of RD 2, Flintstone, sustained a laceration of his face and scalp and was X-rayed.

Maryland State Police said the accident occurred about 10:45 p. m. a mile and two tenths north of U. S. Route 40 on the Mason Road.

They said the young driver was traveling north on the highway at an apparent high rate of speed when the car veered off to the right and struck a utility pole.

Resurfacing Work To Begin Here Monday

Model Program Has Been Set Up

The 1963 street resurfacing program will begin Monday on Wempe Drive, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

It is one of nine city streets to be resurfaced by the Cumberland Contracting Company under a $23,326 contract which included the surfacing of 10 streets, including a short section of Wills Creek Avenue.

Mrs. Roeder said the firm hopes to finish blacktopping Wempe Drive on Monday and then move to West First Street.

On Wednesday and Thursday, the local firm is expected to move to the Thomas Street section, where it is engaged in a State Roads Commission contract on the south approach of the Cumberland Thruway.

Model Job Set

If weather permits the schedule presented to the Street Department, blacktopping crews should move to East Fourth Street next Friday to complete that area.

Next on the schedule are Windsor Road, Rose Hill Avenue and Kiefer Avenue on the West Side and East First Street and Linden Street, on the East Side.

From all indications, it will be a model resurfacing program.

Mrs. Roeder said Ray Valentine, street superintendent, reports all preliminary work has been completed on the streets.

This included notice, well in advance, to all utilities, asking them to make any necessary installations or repairs to lines before the streets are surfaced.

Street Department crews have patched potholes on the streets and have installed new curbs, where needed, on all areas under the control of the city.

Risers On Hand

The Engineering Department inspected all curbs and notified property owners of any needed curb repairs. Some but not all of these repairs have been made.

Where Kiefer Street intersects with Fayette Street, Street Department crews widened the intersection by 24 inches while installing new curbing.

Manholes and valve boxes will be raised two inches as the resurfacing crews reach each street.

Mrs. Roeder said the Sewer Department crews have rings and risers on hand to make the necessary changes in the height of the manholes.

Cobey Rejects Defense Moves

Two defense motions were overruled yesterday by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey, who then entered a judgement for $10,000 for Mrs. Grace V. Parker, a nurse at the County Home, in Allegany County Circuit Court.

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury had awarded Mrs. Parker a $10,000 verdict at the conclusion of the trial May 20. The verdict was found against Claude Lester Durst, driver of the car which struck Mrs. Parker at the intersection of Henderson and Baltimore avenues December 31, 1959; Ronald Scritchfield, driver of a truck which was following Durst's car, and Mary E. Blackshear, trading as Mary's Cleaners, owner of the truck which Scritchfield was driving.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney for Scritchfield and Mrs. Blackshear, made a motion May 23 for a new trial and a second motion for a judgement in favor of his clients despite the jury verdict. Judge Cobey overruled both motions.

Durst had argued that he struck Mrs. Parker because his attention was diverted by the cleaning truck, which was attempting to pass and turn onto Henderson Avenue behind him. The jury ruled both drivers were negligent.

Dismissal Of Teachers' Suit Asked

Legal Officials Answer Charges

BALTIMORE (AP)—State legal officials have asked Circuit Court Judge Shirley Jones to dismiss a suit which asks that four Frostburg State Teachers College teachers be retained in their jobs.

The suit was filed last week on behalf of four English teachers whose contracts were not renewed and will expire June 30.

The teachers claim their academic freedom was violated and that they were dismissed illegally, without a hearing.

A reply filed by the state contends that no justifiable issue was raised in the plea because teachers without tenure have no right to a hearing under by-laws adopted by the State Teachers College Board of Trustees.

The teachers claim their dismissal resulted from their liberal ideas and from controversial novels they wished to use in the classroom.

The board of trustees refused to give them a hearing, allowing the decision of Frostburg's administration to stand.

The teachers are Dr. Edmund G. Skellings, Norris L. Merchant, John Cole and Francis L. Ireland.

Young Man Fined $500 In Juvenile Case

James Anthony Andrews, 20, of 8 Massachusetts Avenue, was fined $500 yesterday in Juvenile Court on a charge of contributing to delinquency of a minor.

Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin found Andrews guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a 13-year-old girl. The girl involved in the case was placed on probation without verdict.

Andrews was arrested earlier this week by City Police. County Investigator William F. Baker presented the state's case and Andrews was represented by Harold E. Naughton, local attorney.

In another hearing yesterday in Juvenile Court, Mrs. Dorothy Nesbitt, 208 Fulton Street, was found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a 13-year-old girl.

However, Magistrate Fatkin withheld sentence in the case until next Thursday.

The local woman was arrested by Tfc. Bernard F. Chabot, criminal investigator for the State Police, in connection with shoplifting at a LaVale store.

South End Home Is Damaged By Lightning Bolt

During yesterday's severe electrical storm, a bolt of lightning struck and damaged the chimney on a house at 7 Elder Street.

Firemen from South End station were called about noon to the two-story dwelling owned by E. C. Huff. They said the lightning damaged the chimney and the impact blew wallpaper off a stove pipe outlet in the dining room of the second floor apartment.

There was no fire, although soot from the chimney was spewed out onto the dining room floor. Firemen were out about 13 minutes.

Carry-Out Store Will Be Built

Arthur and Mildred Finneran have received a permit from the City of Cumberland to build a one-story storeroom at 808 North Mechanic Street for use as a seafood carry-out establishment.

It will be 40 by 46 feet and of concrete block construction. A two-car garage on the site will be torn down to make way for the business. Cost of the building was estimated at $5,000.

Federal Funds Are Sought On Seven Projects

Costs Estimated At Over $400,000

The City of Cumberland has submitted applications for federal aid, under the Accelerated Public Works program, for seven water and sewage projects estimated to cost more than $400,000.

Two of the projects have been approved and matching APW funds set aside. City officials hope to get approval of others in the near future.

Under the pump priming program, costs are shared equally by federal and local interests with the exception of any right of way costs, which must be met entirely by the city.

Project Begins

This week marked the start of construction of the first project approved — the Ridge Terrace sewer project.

The cost was estimated at $13,000, and the city was advised that $6,500 was being set aside to meet the federal costs.

The contract was awarded to the Hout Construction Company, low bidder, at $16,200. The government has indicated that it will try to match the additional costs.

Bids will be opened June 17 for the second approved project—the extension of an eight-inch sewer on Haddon Avenue to Williams Road. Half of the estimated $16,000 cost has been set aside by the government.

Seek Approval

Approval of other projects is being sought. They include:

Installation of a low-lift pumping station at Lake Gordon and the rehabilitation of the reservoir's inoperable gate chamber. Work is expected to cost about $149,000, with the city's share $74,500.

Laying of a 10-inch sanitary sewer on Golden Lane, from Willowbrook Road north. Cost is estimated at $10,000 with the city's share $5,000.

The extension of the 42-inch Frederick Street storm sewer from Linden Street to Henderson Avenue. Cost is estimated at $90,000 shared by the city and the government.

The Brinker Run encasement project is estimated to cost $126,000. The city's share would be $63,000.

The last is the Grand Avenue extension program. It is estimated to cost $38,000 with the city's cost $27,500.

County Farm Ponds Mapped

A map locating the 110 farm ponds in Allegany County has been prepared by the local Soil Conservation Service for the use of Allegany - Garrett Counties Firemen's Association.

The individual fire companies will visit owners of the ponds in their area to establish the exact location of the pond and also to get permission to use the pond in fire prevention. If permission is granted they will determine means of access to the farm pond and the volume of water available.

Martin M. Gordon, SCS work unit conservationist, said most of the 110 ponds pin-pointed on the map were planned and constructed with supervision of SCS personnel. Some of the ponds have been stocked with fish by the State Game and Inland Fish Commission upon request by the owner.

Gas Company Seeks Land In Hampshire Co.

2,000-Acre Area Is Near Augusta

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Gas Light Co. plans to acquire a 2,000 - acre area in West Virginia for the production and storage of natural gas, a company official said Friday.

Donald S. Bittinger, president of the company, said permission to operate the gas field in Hampshire County, W. Va., near Augusta, will be sought from the District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission and the West Virginia State Corporation Commission.

Use of the field for storage of gas would be a substitute location for a storage area the company had sought in Prince Georges County, Md. A bill which would have permitted the company to operate the Prince Georges field died in the last session of the Maryland House of Delegates.

The West Virginia project, Bittinger said, would involve creation of a subsidiary company, Hampshire Gas Co., to operate the field. It is estimated, company officials said, that the Hampshire County field contains at least 7.5 billion cubic feet of gas.

The company's announcement said Washington Gas Light's principal interest in the Hampshire County area is its "potential development as an underground storage field."

However, the announcement indicated additional operations because it said that if District of Columbia and West Virginia permission is obtained the company will proceed to acquire oil and gas leases covering approximately 37,000 acres. The locations were not pinpointed.

If the project is approved, the announcement said, the company plans initially to deliver Hampshire Gas Co. gas to Shenandoah Gas Co., another subsidiary, which supplies natural gas to the Winchester-Martinsburg area of Virginia and West Virginia.

If gas reserves proved sufficient, the company said, natural gas could be delivered also from West Virginia to the Washington area.

Council Of Alleghenies Publishes First Journal

The first constructive project of the Council of the Alleghenies has become a reality with the distribution yesterday of the first issue of the Journal of the Alleghenies.

Arthur P. Ziegler Jr., a member of the faculty of Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh, is editor of this quarterly publication which is beginning with a modest 12-page issue.

Mr. Ziegler begins this first issue with a brief column. In it he writes:

"Fresh Scholarship"

"We feel that this quarterly should concern itself with articles of fresh scholarship and valuable insights into the history, arts, literature and folklore of this tableland. And we print this prospectus issue to inform interested persons of our existence, our intentions and our purview."

Two articles and two book reviews are included in this first issue. Mr. Ziegler himself writes the first article entitled "The Worthy Vexation," history and life in the Allegheny Highlands. Clifford Hamrick and Robert Munn of West Virginia University have written the second article, "The Allegheny Highlands," a socio-economic portrait.

Books reviewed are "Research Opportunities in American Cultural History," edited by John Francis McDermott and "City and Country Life in America" by David R. Weimer. The reviewers are A. C. Willers of Carnegie Tech and Donald R. Spangler of Kent State University in Ohio.

The article by the two WVU faculty members carries with it a significant table gleaned from economic figures obtained during the 1960 Census.

Economic Data

This table contains data on per cent of families with annual incomes below $3,000 in 1960, median family income in 1960, population increase or decrease between 1950 and 1960 and median school years completed.

Thirty counties in the four states of West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania are included in the table. Generally, these counties have more than the national average of 21.7 per cent of families with annual incomes below $3,000 in 1960, are below the national median family income of $5,199, 18 of the 30 counties decreased in population while the national increase was averaging 18.5 per cent and are below the national average of 10.6 median school years completed as of 1960.

Allegany County's median family income in 1960 of $5,107 was higher than all but two of the 30 counties cited in the table. Westmoreland County, Pa., had a median family income of $5,597 in 1960 and neighboring Washington County was $38 ahead of Allegany County at $5,145.

Again Westmoreland County was the leader among the 30 in median school years completed in 1960, 10.1, but Allegany ranked second at 9.4 years.

Mailed with the first issue of the Journal of the Alleghenies was a note from Mr. Ziegler that the next meeting of the Council of the Alleghenies will be held at Penn Alps in Grantsville at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, July 20.

Milton Ogle, community development counselor for the Council of the Southern Mountains, will be the guest speaker on this occasion. This council is based at Berea College in Kentucky.

Sugar Grove Funds Asked By Sen. Byrd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., Friday urged Senate restoration of $3,830,000 to the 1964 military construction authorization bill involving the Navy's abandoned radio astronomy center at Sugar Grove, W. Va.

Byrd, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, addressed his appeal to Sen. Richard Russell, committee chairman. "I have searched through the House report" on the bill, Byrd told Russell, "and I was unable to find any mention of the reasons" for House deletion of the Sugar Grove item."

The proposed allocation would include $3,480,000 for a Navy radio receiving facility and $350,000 for housing of personnel at Sugar Grove. "I understand from the Navy," Byrd said, "that a strong claim has been filled for restoration" of the funds.

"The Navy advises me," Byrd said, "that is imperative that the Navy receiving facility be moved from Cheltenham, Md., to Sugar Grove because of the high livel of electronic interference now being received at the Maryland site.

Byrd said Sugar Grove was "ideally suited" for the radio facility because of its location, and in view of "a large amount" of money spent at the site before it was abandoned as a radio astronomy center.

Road Worker Upped Grade

Theodore Robertson, an employe of the Allegany County Roads Department for the past 17 years, yesterday was reclassified into pay grade 8 by the Board of County Commissioners.

This action was taken after the commissioners received an explanatory letter from Harry T. Skelly, county roads supervisor. Mr. Skelly explained that in order to operate graders and other heavy equipment it would be necessary for Mr. Robertson to be termed equipment operator I and placed in pay grade 8. In reinstating Mr. Robertson May 31, the county commissioners had classified him an equipment operator II and placed him in pay grade 9. Mr. Skelly said in such a classification he could not handle graders and other heavy equipment.

A former roads foreman in the Oldtown area, Mr. Robertson was suspended by the county commissioners March 8 for "unethical conduct." He appealed to the County Civil Service Commission, which recommended last night that he be reinstated but at a lesser job and not in the Oldtown area.

Road Program Financing Will Be Discussed

Study Committee May Be Appointed

BALTIMORE (AP) — The president of the Maryland senate plans to meet next week with Gov. Tawes to discuss appointing a special committee to help make recommendations for financing a multibillion dollar roads program.

Sen. William S. James, D-Harford, announced his plan Friday. Sen. James is also the head of the Legislative Council whose highway subcommittee has been working with the State Roads Commission on the recommendations. Sen. Edward O. Weant, D-Carroll, is chairman of the subcommittee.

The State Roads Commission presented a 20-year road construction program to the General Assembly earlier this year without suggesting how to finance the work, estimated to cost up to $6 billion.

Sen. James said the legislature must take some action during its 1964 session or the state would have no independent highway program for the following year, when the present program runs out.

Del. J. Glenn Beall, R-Allegany, house minority leader, accused the administration of backing away from the finance problem to avoid any major tax increases this year.

The commission's report was referred to the Legislative Council after it was reviewed during the legislative session by a subcommittee.

Hospital Plans At Memorial Nearly Ready

Bids Seen Likely After June 30

Architect's plans for the proposed new $2,305,000 addition to Memorial Hospital are expected to be in the hands of the Board of Governors by June 30 so the project can be advertised for bids.

This information was contained in a letter to Louis V. Shinnamon, president of the Board of County Commissioners, from George B. Newman, chairman of the Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Newman explained in the letter that 50 per cent of the cost, or $1,152,500, can be obtained from federal sources under the Accelerated Public Works Program. That is more than twice the $555,701 which the hospital board might have gotten in Hill-Burton money.

Three other sources are expected to supply the other 50 per cent of the hospital addition cost. The hospital itself will provide $152,500 while $500,000 each is anticipated from the City of Cumberland and Allegany County.

Mr. Newman wrote that in April Memorial Hospital continued to have the highest occupancy rate of any hospital in Maryland. With the exception of obstetrics, it was filled to 118 per cent of capacity, which meant that halls and every nook and corner were utilized.

The hospital board chairman also cited some of the advantages of the new plan for the hospital's addition. The original plan, which would have taken two years to complete, would have cut off 120 rooms of the existing hospital during part of the construction, resulting in the loss of about $900,000 in operating revenue.

The revised plan calls for construction of a separate building in one year with no interruption in present service. The new and old buildings then would be joined by a corridor.

The addition would increase the number of hospital beds from 258 to 312.

Mr. Newman concluded by offering to have John A. Moberly, hospital superintendent, meet with the county commissioners to discuss the plans in more detail.

Principal Takes Role Seriously

By RUTH R. THOMPSON

"No more teachers, no more books . . ." the freedom bell is ringing out for the nation's pupils; and teachers, too. But for many school administrators and department heads, summer is all too apt to mean work, work and more work getting ready for the fall term.

Beating them all to the gate, though, are the principal and staff of Jefferson High, mythical setting for NBC's forthcoming series, "Mr. Novak," (already the recipient of warm praise from the National Education Association) which is afilming in Hollywood.

I latched onto an interview with Jefferson High's "principal," "Oscar — "winning actor Dean Jagger, after the pilot film had been previewed to educators and before the "first semester" got rolling. (The title role—that of an able young teacher on his first job—is being portrayed by James Franciscus. And the first telecast is set for September 24, 7:30—8:30 p. m.).

What does Dean Jagger think about education today? Acting? Life in Hollywood?

Jagger, I found has some pretty definite ideas about teaching and he's entitled it seems . . . because before becoming an actor he was a teacher. "At 17, right near home in Indiana." He got the job because he filled both requirements for handling an unruly class: first, he'd earned his teaching certificate; and second, he had an air of authority.

Jagger is still grateful for a discerning professor's probing "over tea and cakes" which helped him discover what he wanted. "I discovered," he recalls, "that I had always been happiest when I was doing orations or poetry readings at churches and clubs."

Thus enlightened he wasted no time borrowing $60 from an uncle and, accompanied by a classmate, running away to Chicago.

Dean was in a touring company in less than a year, got on Broadway in 1925 with a bit part in a George M. Cohan vehicle and has been working steadily, profitably and with acclaim on stage and in films ever since. Further he won't take a part he doesn't like.

With "Mr. Novak" it's going to be easier. There's already a lot of Principal Albert Vane in Dean Jagger. Furthermore, there's a teenager, his 13-year-old daughter Diane, around the house to give him the high school student's viewpoint.

Principal Takes Role Seriously

By RUTH R. THOMPSON

"No more teachers, no more books . . ." the freedom bell is ringing out for the nation's pupils; and teachers, too. But for many school administrators and department heads, summer is all too apt to mean work, work and more work getting ready for the fall term.

Beating them all to the gate, though, are the principal and staff of Jefferson High, mythical setting for NBC's forthcoming series, "Mr. Novak," (already the recipient of warm praise from the National Education Association) which is afilming in Hollywood.

I latched onto an interview with Jefferson High's "principal," "Oscar — "winning actor Dean Jagger, after the pilot film had been previewed to educators and before the "first semester" got rolling. (The title role—that of an able young teacher on his first job—is being portrayed by James Franciscus. And the first telecast is set for September 24, 7:30—8:30 p. m.).

What does Dean Jagger think about education today? Acting? Life in Hollywood?

Jagger, I found has some pretty definite ideas about teaching and he's entitled it seems . . . because before becoming an actor he was a teacher. "At 17, right near home in Indiana." He got the job because he filled both requirements for handling an unruly class: first, he'd earned his teaching certificate; and second, he had an air of authority.

Jagger is still grateful for a discerning professor's probing "over tea and cakes" which helped him discover what he wanted. "I discovered," he recalls, "that I had always been happiest when I was doing orations or poetry readings at churches and clubs."

Thus enlightened he wasted no time borrowing $60 from an uncle and, accompanied by a classmate, running away to Chicago.

Dean was in a touring company in less than a year, got on Broadway in 1925 with a bit part in a George M. Cohan vehicle and has been working steadily, profitably and with acclaim on stage and in films ever since. Further he won't take a part he doesn't like.

With "Mr. Novak" it's going to be easier. There's already a lot of Principal Albert Vane in Dean Jagger. Furthermore, there's a teenager, his 13-year-old daughter Diane, around the house to give him the high school student's viewpoint.

TV IN SIGHT

ART CARNEY, SMUGGLER OF SMILES

A cruel dictator has outlawed laughter and all "laughmakers" have been executed for treason—except one. He is Gerald Q. Wirt, who flees and "bootlegs" laughter to the people. Art Carney plays this "last comedian," and co-starred is 10-year-old Johnny Megna, who made a hit on Broadway and in the movie, "To Kill a Mockingbird." "The Triumph of Gerald Q. Wirt" will be seen on the DuPont Show of the Week tomorrow at 10 p. m. on NBC-TV.

Popular "World" Golf Series Set For Return

"Wonderful World of Golf," a filmed series of international golf matches, will return for a second season as Sunday afternoon color series, it was announced today by Walter D. Scott, executive vice president in charge of the NBC television network.

The golf show, which pits outstanding American golfers against leading foreign professionals on some of the world's most famous courses, will be presented from 4 to 5 p. m. (EST) on 11 Sundays, January 19 through March 29, 1964.

The programs will be sponsored again by the Shell Oil Company.

Host and commentator for "Wonderful World of Golf" again will be famed professional Gene Sarazen, twice National Open champion, three times PGA titleholder and the winner of other major tournaments including the Masters and British Open. Working with him on the commentary again will be announcer George Rogers.

Southerland Associates Inc. will produce the shows, with Fred Raphael as executive producer and Dick Darley, producer-director.

The first of the international matches was filmed this week at the Royal Golf Club at Brussels, Belgium. Competing in the 18-hole, medal-play duel will be Dave Marr of the United States and Flory Van Donck of Belgium.

Other matches in the series will be filmed between June and September at golf courses in countries including Portugal, Switzerland, Japan, India, Colombia and Puerto Rico.

Youthful Houdini

"Houdini taugh me a few tricks," says Edmond O'Brien who's seen on Saturdays as "Sam Benedict." And he's not kidding! As a boy he lived across the street from the master of magic himself.

O'Brien used his "Houdini-training" to put on little magic shows in the neighborhood and billed himself as "Neirbo the Great" (O'Brien spelled backwards.)

MistakenIdentity

Victor Griffin of "Sing Along With Mitch" tells about a stranger tapping him on the shoulder as he was leaving a restaurant.

"Are you Sam Jones?" "Nope," said Victor. "Well I am," said the stranger, "and that's his hat you're wearing."

Swimming Around The Channels

Gary Crosby gets the plum as bellhop confidante to Jose Jimenez on the Bill Dana Show. Bill, who both created and portrays Jose, says of the character Crosby will portray, "he is constantly advising Jose to wise up and be like he is, although Jose is honest, trustworthy and dependable . . . none of which his buddy is." Show will be seen Sunday evenings at 7:00 p. m.

Among the changes on the scene, the most notable is "Redigo" a half-hour action-adventure series which has evolved from the hour-long "Empire." The two top names remain the same. Richard Egan stars in the title role as Jim Redigo, and Ryan O'Neal as Tal Garrett.

Moving into the moderator's chair on "Issues and Answers", bi-weekly Sunday afternoon news interview program on ABC, will be Howard K. Smith. Though it's Smith's first year with "Issues and Answers", the program itself is in its fourth year.

Leslie Uggams' bright star keeps rising. During the summer Mitch Miller's lovely 21-year-old vocalist will appear with Jack Carter at the Flamingo in Las Vegas and in the fall she moves to that chic heaven that is the goal of all gal singers, The Persian Room of New York's Plaza Hotel.

And speaking of Mitch, we learn he first grew the beard in 1941 modeling it after an illustration in Lawrence of Arabia's book, "The Seven Pillars of Wisdom."

Irwin Kostal, music director of "The Garry Moore Show," has recorded albums with the Met's Giorgio Tozzi—and jazzmen Urbie Green and Johnny Smith.

Peter and Klaus Delmel, cameramen brothers of West Berlin who in secret filmed "The Tunnel," the documentary which chronicled the escape route from East Berlin of 59 persons, have been touring the United States under the auspices of the International Rescue Committee.

"The Tunnel", which won an "Emmy award, also received a special award from the International Rescue Committee (the first the organization has ever presented to a communications medium) which cited the program as "a significant contribution to the cause of freedom."

Ed Sullivan, CBS Television Network host, has traveled more than a million miles in quest of top American and foreign entertainers.

Youthful Houdini

"Houdini taugh me a few tricks," says Edmond O'Brien who's seen on Saturdays as "Sam Benedict." And he's not kidding! As a boy he lived across the street from the master of magic himself.

O'Brien used his "Houdini-training" to put on little magic shows in the neighborhood and billed himself as "Neirbo the Great" (O'Brien spelled backwards.)

MistakenIdentity

Victor Griffin of "Sing Along With Mitch" tells about a stranger tapping him on the shoulder as he was leaving a restaurant.

"Are you Sam Jones?" "Nope," said Victor. "Well I am," said the stranger, "and that's his hat you're wearing."

Swimming Around The Channels

Gary Crosby gets the plum as bellhop confidante to Jose Jimenez on the Bill Dana Show. Bill, who both created and portrays Jose, says of the character Crosby will portray, "he is constantly advising Jose to wise up and be like he is, although Jose is honest, trustworthy and dependable . . . none of which his buddy is." Show will be seen Sunday evenings at 7:00 p. m.

Among the changes on the scene, the most notable is "Redigo" a half-hour action-adventure series which has evolved from the hour-long "Empire." The two top names remain the same. Richard Egan stars in the title role as Jim Redigo, and Ryan O'Neal as Tal Garrett.

Moving into the moderator's chair on "Issues and Answers", bi-weekly Sunday afternoon news interview program on ABC, will be Howard K. Smith. Though it's Smith's first year with "Issues and Answers", the program itself is in its fourth year.

Leslie Uggams' bright star keeps rising. During the summer Mitch Miller's lovely 21-year-old vocalist will appear with Jack Carter at the Flamingo in Las Vegas and in the fall she moves to that chic heaven that is the goal of all gal singers, The Persian Room of New York's Plaza Hotel.

And speaking of Mitch, we learn he first grew the beard in 1941 modeling it after an illustration in Lawrence of Arabia's book, "The Seven Pillars of Wisdom."

Irwin Kostal, music director of "The Garry Moore Show," has recorded albums with the Met's Giorgio Tozzi—and jazzmen Urbie Green and Johnny Smith.

Peter and Klaus Delmel, cameramen brothers of West Berlin who in secret filmed "The Tunnel," the documentary which chronicled the escape route from East Berlin of 59 persons, have been touring the United States under the auspices of the International Rescue Committee.

"The Tunnel", which won an "Emmy award, also received a special award from the International Rescue Committee (the first the organization has ever presented to a communications medium) which cited the program as "a significant contribution to the cause of freedom."

Ed Sullivan, CBS Television Network host, has traveled more than a million miles in quest of top American and foreign entertainers.
